Ike Handed Civil Rights Bill Setbacks

House Kills 2 Proposed Amendments

Senate Approves Bombing Penalties In Labor Disputes

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House, in its first major action on the civil rights bill, killed two proposals by President Eisenhower Monday.

Knocked out on points of order raised by Southerners were:

1. A proposed amendment to set up a 15-member presidential commission with the aim of assuring Negroes employment rights on jobs under government contracts.

2. Another amendment that would have authorized federal grants and technical assistance to communities or states trying to desegregate their schools.

In the Senate, the administration took a setback on a vote of 85-1 to make the bombing penalties in the civil rights bill apply to every type of bombing or arson.

GOP Leader Alone

The lonely, losing senator was Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois, the Republican leader, who argued for confining the section to bombings of schools and churches.

With the change, senators made plain, bombings in labor disputes would be included.

The first House decisions were not clear — cut divisions on civil rights legislation itself.

Rep. Emanuel Celler (D-N.Y.), offered the government jobs amendment and Rep. Howard W. Smith (D-Va.), immediately objected that it was alien to the bill.

The presiding officer, Rep. Francis E. Walter (D-Pa.), sustained Smith's point of order, agreeing that it was out of order. Then Celler appealed the ruling and the House upheld Walter 157-67.

The House traditionally sustains its presiding officer. Celler's appeal was the first of its kind in years.

Referee Proposal Vote Near

On the second amendment rejection, the one dealing with federal aid for desegregating areas, again the point was made, and sustained that the amendment was out of order.

There wasn't even any try on the second time to overrule the decision.

The House turned next to the key proposal for a system of referees to be appointed by federal courts to help Southern Negroes vote in areas where they say they are barred by local officials.

However, the House adjourned overnight without reaching a vote on the referee proposal.

South Koreans Begin Voting

SEOUL (AP) — South Koreans began voting Tuesday for a president, with the outcome certain. At 84, President Syngman Rhee will be elected to a fourth term in a race against a dead man.

After a campaign marred by killings and beatings, the main interest centers on the vice presidency. Rhee's Liberal party running mate is Lee Ki-poong, 63, speaker of the National Assembly.

Although Lee is crippled by rheumatism, a big jump in Liberal party registration is expected to carry him to victory over the Democrats' John M. Chang. Chang beat Lee by 200,000 votes four years ago. In Korea, president and vice president are elected separately.

The winner would succeed Rhee, the only president South Korea has had in 12 years of independence, should he die before his new term expires in 1964. To some, Rhee appears to be showing signs of ill-health. But the Liberal party insists he is sound.

Possible Haven Of 18 Entombed Miners Empty

Second Likely Refuge 1,200 Feet Deeper

LOGAN, W.Va., (AP) — Rescue workers reached an underground room Monday where it was believed 18 men entombed in a coal mine might have taken refuge. There was no one there.

Only a couple of dinner buckets, some tools and machinery were found, State Mines Director Crawford L. Wilson, who has directed the rescue effort, announced at a news conference.

The empty area was the one rescuers had been driving toward for six days in their around-the-clock attempt to reach the coal miners trapped last Tuesday by a slate fall and fire in the mine.

The rescue team which made the breakthrough was pulled back immediately to a fresh-air base for food and rest.

Wilson expressed disappointment that the 18 men were not found in the 300-by-500-foot area but he said he felt better about their safety.

"That would be a bad place," he told newsmen. "I'd never have chosen it if I were in there."

The stocky, silver-haired mines chief said they would now move toward a second place where the men might be—1,200 more feet on into the depths of Island Creek Coal Co.'s No. 22 Mine at nearby Holden.

That one is much bigger, Wilson said, would have more oxygen and is farther back from the heat and fumes of the still-smoldering fire in the mine.

There was no official word on how long it might take to reach the second area.

Negroes Sing Outside Court As 11 Convicted

By The Associated Press
Hundreds of Negroes sang hymns outside the Petersburg, Va., courthouse Monday while 11 members of their race were convicted of trespassing at the Petersburg Public Library.

The scene highlighted a day marked by calls for strong leadership in Florida to end Negro lunch - counter demonstrations, a new sit-down in South Carolina, and legal action in several states.

An uneasy calm was reported elsewhere in the South after a weekend in which tear gas was used to halt marching Negro Florida A&M students at Tallahassee. The students, confined to campus Monday on orders of Gov. Leroy Collins, announced they had decided to call off future demonstrations.

The trial in Virginia provided the first legal test of a new Petersburg city ordinance providing a maximum $1,000 fine and a 12-month jail sentence for trespassers on city property. The Negroes were arrested when they refused to leave the main floor of the library, traditionally restricted to white people.

Hundreds of Negroes gathered on the courthouse steps for the trial, but fewer than 50 could be admitted to the tiny courtroom. Those outside sang hymns.

Stiff sentences were given the Rev. Wyatt T. Walker and the Rev. Robert G. Williams. Both were fined $100 and costs and sentenced to 30 days in jail. One student received a 10-day sentence and a fine of $50 and costs. The other demonstrators were fined $50 and costs but were not given jail sentences. All were released on bond after attorneys noted appeals.

The decision came after some jurors, despite the judge's admonition of silence, told of harsh exchanges, rudeness, amatory foray—and even a threat of violence behind the locked doors of the jury room.

"The situation involving the jury is a disgrace," said J. Manley Bowler, chief deputy district attorney.

McKesson said coprosecutors Fred N. Whicello and Clifford D. Crail won't be connected with the second trial of the rich, athletic physician and his pretty mistress, Carole Tregoff.

The case will go to whichever deputy district attorney happens to be assigned to the court to which the Finch case goes at a hearing Thursday.

4th Snowstorm In Two Weeks Cripples Midwest

By The Associated Press
The fourth major storm in two weeks spread a crippling carpet of snow across the central section of the nation Monday.

The new snow measured up to 4 inches in Missouri, 4 to 7 in Kansas, and up to 7 in Nebraska. Warnings were issued for 8-to-12 inches of snow in parts of those states and southern Iowa and for 4 inches or more in southern and west-central Illinois, southwestern Indiana and western Kentucky.

Snow piled up in areas where previous falls had been shoveled and scooped into high mounds. Gusty winds formed drifts in roads. Schools were closed in a dozen communities in eastern Colorado. The weekend holiday was extended in many rural schools in Nebraska.

Up to a half foot of snow slowed highway traffic in northern Utah and blocked an aerial search for a missing plane that was carrying five persons from Burley, Idaho, to Las Vegas, Nev.

There were no indications that winter was weakening, although spring will begin Sunday. Temperatures shrank to overnight lows of 21 in Aberdeen, S.D., -10 in Bismarck, N.D., -8 in Minneapolis-St. Paul, -4 in Madison, Wis., and -1 in Moline, Ill.

Rescue crews moving by helicopter and ground vehicles labored to complete their task of bringing relief to snowbound mountain families in North Carolina, Tennessee and Virginia. They were spurred by the threat of fresh snow Tuesday.

Khrushchev Due In Paris On March 23

Shortened French Tour Now Planned By Ailing Premier

PARIS (AP)—The French and Soviet governments set new dates—March 23-April 3—for a shortened visit to France by Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev.

The announcement followed reassuring reports from Soviet Ambassador Serge Vinogradov of progress by the 65-year-old Khrushchev in his bout with influenza, French officials said.

It cut short vague speculation that Khrushchev might be sicker than admitted, or suffering a diplomatic illness. French officials and most of the press discounted from the start that he was using a dodge to call off the trip or force any drastic revision of plans.

12-Day Visit Planned

Khrushchev originally had planned to arrive in Paris Tuesday for a 14-day swing around the country and talks with President Charles de Gaulle before the East-West summit in May. The new schedule cuts two days off the visit.

With some welcoming flags already flying, Moscow Sunday announced that Khrushchev was down with a case of "khrrip" (grippe), and that it would be impossible for him to keep the Tuesday date. He returned March 5 from an exhausting 25-day expedition to India, Burma, Indonesia and Afghanistan. He apparently fell victim about Friday to the same bug that has afflicted thousands of other Muscovites.

No Details On Illness

As usual, Moscow was giving no details on his illness or where he was being treated, but he was believed to be at his home outside Moscow.

Under the new arrangements, Khrushchev will end his visit only two days before De Gaulle is off for London for talks with the British.

The shortened and revised schedule, necessitated by Khrushchev's illness and De Gaulle's plans, made hash of careful minute-by-minute plans drawn by the French. The principal tour organizers met with security chiefs at Elysee Palace to straighten out the tangle.

Demos Doubt Adlai Will Bid For Nomination

WASHINGTON (AP) — Influential Democrats voiced doubt Monday that Adlai E. Stevenson intends to make any public bid for the Democratic presidential nomination.

Reports that Stevenson plans a series of major addresses after his return in April from a two-month South American tour sparked new speculation that the two-time nominee was softening his repeated declarations that he is not a candidate.

Sen. John Sparkman (D-Ala.), the party's vice-presidential nominee in 1952, said he has seen no signs that his former ticket mate is edging into a position from which he could take off for the nomination if the situation looked favorable.

"Gov. Stevenson has said he is not seeking the nomination and I, for one, take him at his word," Sparkman said.

Sen. Mike Mansfield of Montana, assistant Senate Democratic leader, said in a separate interview he doubts "at this late date that he will become even an inactive candidate for the nomination."

White Man Beaten, Slashed By Negroes

CHARLESTON, S.C. (AP) — Police reported Monday that a 24-year-old white service station attendant was beaten and robbed by six Negro youths who made a crude attempt to carve the initials "KKK" into his back.

Attendants at the Charleston County emergency room said they took almost 100 stitches in the back of Grady McMakin early Sunday morning. McMakin then hitchhiked to his home at John's Island, 15 miles from here.

Police said no arrests have been made.

Russians Back Down In Travel Pass Dispute

BERLIN (AP) — The Soviet Union backed down Monday on the question of travel passes for Western military missions stationed at Potsdam in East Germany.

The surprising retreat was first reported by ADN, the official East German news agency, and later confirmed by a spokesman at U.S. Army headquarters in Heidelberg and by the British Embassy in Bonn.

France and the two other Western powers since early February have refused to use new passes which authorized their mission personnel to travel in the "German Democratic Republic." Old passes issued by the Soviets until then authorized travel in "the Soviet zone of Germany."

ADN said the Soviet chief of staff in East Germany, Lt. Gen. G. V. Voronov, received the heads of the U.S., British and French missions in East Germany Monday.

It had been feared that the Soviet intention was to drive Western missions out of Communist East Germany, even at the price of losing Soviet missions in West Germany.

Some Western sources said, however, that the Soviets appeared to attach considerable importance to their military missions with the American, British and French forces in West Germany.

The Western powers refused to accept the new passes because they feared it would be interpreted as backdoor recognition of the East German Communist government, which they regard as a creature of the Soviet Union.

Congo Rioting Leaves 13 Dead

ELISABETHVILLE, Belgian Congo (AP) — Three days of savage battling by two rival political factions have killed 13 Congolese and injured more than 100 others, officials said Monday. The combatants fought with machetes, clubs and fists.

The riotous brawls and house burnings centered in and around this capital of Katanga province, in the southeast part of the Belgian Congo. The Congo is preparing for independence June 30 and stakes and tempers are high.

Police and Congolese soldiers struggled to contain the combatants and arrested more than 500 Africans under a state of emergency decree. But as fast as order was restored in one quarter, melees exploded in another. Mutilated bodies still lay on the ground, some with hands, arms, heads or legs lopped off.

Ike To Meet Press

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Eisenhower will hold a news conference at 10:30 a.m. e.s.t. Wednesday, the White House said Monday.

Lessened Federal Control In Transit Industry Proposed

Better Service At Lower Cost Is Aim

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Commerce Department proposed Monday that the government loosen control over airlines, railroads and other forms of transportation. With new freedom, some carriers would lose subsidies and pay more for federal services.

Among other things, the department called for repeal of federal excise taxes on passenger travel when federal budget requirements permit.

This wide-sweeping program, which would be put into effect gradually, was contained in a 78-point report sent by Secretary of Commerce Frederick H. Mueller to the White House.

President Eisenhower relayed the report to Congress for study but did not endorse it, at least for now. Mueller indicated he doesn't expect Congress to act this year.

In announcing the program—a year in the drafting—Mueller said it contemplates "the best possible service at the lowest reasonable cost to the public."

Mueller voiced the opinion that the transportation industry should be liberated from what he called unnecessary shackles so it can operate under the forces of a free competitive system. He said this is preferable to greater federal involvement in solving problems of the industry.

Some portions of the program likely will be welcomed by the airlines, the railroads and the truckers. But other sections may not sit too well.

One major point of controversy may be Mueller's proposal that carriers pay bigger charges for using facilities built with public funds. This would mean heavier levies on the airlines for airport use, and for the first time would apply to those using inland waterways where navigation has been improved by the government.

Another recommendation that may make some carriers unhappy envisions reduction and eventual elimination of various subsidies the government furnishes. In this bookkeeping year, the government is paying 69 million dollars to airlines and 209 million to ship firms.

Kennedy Raps Nixon's 'Locker Room' Campaign

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass.) challenged Vice President Richard M. Nixon Monday to take a more active role in the presidential campaign.

Kennedy, a Democratic presidential candidate, said in an obvious jibe at Nixon that some White House hopefuls feel they should confine appearances to "the Olympics, the Rose Bowl, the sports writers' association, and other similar events."

"But I think that if any candidate is going to win, and is going to represent the people, he has to get out of the locker room and on to the streets where the people live and work," Kennedy said.

Kennedy received a rousing reception from more than 3,000 delegates attending the sixth annual legislative conference of the AFL-CIO Building and Construction Trades Department. Nixon turned on the proposal.

Would Create International Organization

Provides Scrapping Mass Destruction Weapons, Controls

GENEVA (AP) — Five Western powers unveiled Tuesday a dramatic disarmament plan to create an international group so powerful it eventually could veto a nation's military budget.

In three gradual stages, the world would disarm until each nation had only enough armed force to maintain internal order. All weapons of mass destruction would be junked. Space would be barred to military missiles.

In the second stage, another disarmament conference would be called to include Red China and all other nations with strong military forces. They would be invited to join the movement toward world disarmament.

The Western plan, carrying the names of the United States, Britain, France, Italy and Canada, will be introduced promptly in the East-West arms conference opening Tuesday in the Palace of Nations.

Emphasis On Controls

Its central feature calls for establishment of an international disarmament organization which could be set up almost immediately to begin preliminary studies of complex disarmament problems.

If the Western plan wins the approval of the Communist powers these studies would lead on step by step to international control over the world's weapons including everything from military vehicles cruising outer space to hand grenades.

An American source emphasized that the final stage of the plan—with its arrangements for arms control—would only come into force after the preliminary phases had been achieved. From beginning to end the emphasis would be placed on fool-proof controls.

If the Western plan ultimately is adopted and if the carefully planned reductions are carried out, most of the soldiers, sailors and airmen in the world would turn in their uniforms. Those remaining in service would be used only to preserve internal security. Scientists would halt weapons research and direct their knowledge only to projects of peace.

Red Bloc Has Rival Plan

Western officials formally handed over their plan to the five Communist delegations at a preconference meeting Monday night.

The five Communist-bloc nations, the Soviet Union, Poland, Romania, Czechoslovakia and Bulgaria, have ready a rival plan based on Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev's proposals for total world disarmament.

The new Western proposal approaches the Soviet plan. In the third and final stage, all nations would reduce their armed forces to the minimum level needed to preserve internal security.

Under the Western plan, every aspect of disarmament and controls would be studied to prepare the way for the reductions. Efforts would be made to insure nations against surprise attack.

Unlike the Soviet proposal, the Western plan fixes no time limit. Under the Soviet plan, world disarmament would be completed within four years and no nation would have an army, only police.

Woman Jailed In Mate's Death

BAY MINETTE, Ala. (AP)—A former choreographer was jailed Monday on a murder charge in the pistol slaying of her husband, president of an insurance company and former military governor of southern Bavaria.

Loraine Heyl, 42, a stately brunette, was booked in the Sunday night death of Charles H. Heyl, 58. She was his third wife. No bond was set.

Heyl was shot in the chest in the hallway of his fashionable home at Spanish Fort on the eastern shore of Mobile Bay.

Mrs. Heyl consented to an interview in jail but she would tell reporters only that "it was an accident." She refused to say anything further on the advice of her attorney.

Sheriff Taylor Wilkins said Mrs. Heyl, at one time a WAC officer, told him the shooting occurred during an argument. He said she was too upset to tell what the argument was about.

The sheriff quoted her as saying Heyl got the pistol from a bedroom and she took it away from him in the hallway. She said the weapon discharged while they were struggling for it.

D.A. To Quiz Finch Jury

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The two Finch murder trial prosecutors were removed Monday and the district attorney started probing reports of improprieties among jurors who reached an impasse Saturday.

"There will be no more circus court and no more hippodroming," said Dist. Atty. William B. McKesson.

Hypnodroming means acting in a spectacular way.

His office announced intentions of quizzing all 12 jurors who split 10-2 in favor of convicting Dr. R. Bernard Finch of second-degree murder.

The decision came after some jurors, despite the judge's admonition of silence, told of harsh exchanges, rudeness, amatory foray—and even a threat of violence behind the locked doors of the jury room.

But as fast as order was restored in one quarter, melees exploded in another. Mutilated bodies still lay on the ground, some with hands, arms, heads or legs lopped off.

Ike To Meet Press

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Eisenhower will hold a news conference at 10:30 a.m. e.s.t. Wednesday, the White House said Monday.

Lessened Federal Control In Transit Industry Proposed

Better Service At Lower Cost Is Aim

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Commerce Department proposed Monday that the government loosen control over airlines, railroads and other forms of transportation. With new freedom, some carriers would lose subsidies and pay more for federal services.

Among other things, the department called for repeal of federal excise taxes on passenger travel when federal budget requirements permit.

This wide-sweeping program, which would be put into effect gradually, was contained in a 78-point report sent by Secretary of Commerce Frederick H. Mueller to the White House.

President Eisenhower relayed the report to Congress for study but did not endorse it, at least for now. Mueller indicated he doesn't expect Congress to act this year.

In announcing the program—a year in the drafting—Mueller said it contemplates "the best possible service at the lowest reasonable cost to the public."

Mueller voiced the opinion that the transportation industry should be liberated from what he called unnecessary shackles so it can operate under the forces of a free competitive system. He said this is preferable to greater federal involvement in solving problems of the industry.

Some portions of the program likely will be welcomed by the airlines, the railroads and the truckers. But other sections may not sit too well.

One major point of controversy may be Mueller's proposal that carriers pay bigger charges for using facilities built with public funds. This would mean heavier

Kennedy Raps Nixon's 'Locker Room' Campaign

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass.) challenged Vice President Richard M. Nixon Monday to take a more active role in the presidential campaign.

Kennedy, a Democratic presidential candidate, said in an obvious jibe at Nixon that some of private and public construction should confine appearances to "the Olympics, the Rose Bowl, the sports writers' association, and other similar events."

"But I think that if any candidate is going to win, and is going to represent the people, he has to get out of the locker room and on to the streets where the people live and work," Kennedy said.

Kennedy received a rousing reception from more than 3,000 delegates attending the sixth annual legislative conference of the AFL-CIO Building and Construction Trades Department. Nixon turned on the proposal.

Provides Scrapping Mass Destruction Weapons, Controls

GENEVA (AP) — Five Western powers unveiled Tuesday a dramatic disarmament plan to create an international group so powerful it eventually could veto a nation's military budget.

In three gradual stages, the world would disarm until each nation had only enough armed force to maintain internal order. All weapons of mass destruction would be junked. Space would be barred to military missiles.

In the second stage, another disarmament conference would be called to include Red China and all other nations with strong military forces. They would be invited to join the movement toward world disarmament.

The Western plan, carrying the names of the United States, Britain, France, Italy and Canada, will be introduced promptly in the East-West arms conference opening Tuesday in the Palace of Nations.

Emphasis On Controls

Its central feature calls for establishment of an international disarmament organization which could be set up almost immediately to begin preliminary studies of complex disarmament problems.

If the Western plan wins the approval of the Communist powers these studies would lead on step by step to international control over the world's weapons including everything from military vehicles cruising outer space to hand grenades.

An American source emphasized that the final stage of the plan—with its arrangements for arms control—would only come into force after the preliminary phases had been achieved. From beginning to end the emphasis would be placed on fool-proof controls.

If the Western plan ultimately is adopted and if the carefully planned reductions are carried out, most of the soldiers, sailors and airmen in the world would turn in their uniforms. Those remaining in service would be used only to preserve internal security. Scientists would halt weapons research and direct their knowledge only to projects of peace.

Red Bloc Has Rival Plan

Western officials formally handed over their plan to the five Communist delegations at a preconference meeting Monday night.

The five Communist-bloc nations, the Soviet Union, Poland, Romania, Czechoslovakia and Bulgaria, have ready a rival plan based on Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev's proposals for total world disarmament.

The new Western proposal approaches the Soviet plan. In the third and final stage, all nations would reduce their armed forces to the minimum level needed to preserve internal security.

Under the Western plan, every aspect of disarmament and controls would be studied to prepare the way for the reductions. Efforts would be made to insure nations against surprise attack.

Unlike the Soviet proposal, the Western plan fixes no time limit. Under the Soviet plan, world disarmament would be completed within four years and no nation would have an army, only police.

Woman Jailed In Mate's Death

BAY MINETTE, Ala. (AP)—A former choreographer was jailed Monday on a murder charge in the pistol slaying of her husband, president of an insurance company and former military governor of southern Bavaria.

Loraine Heyl, 42, a stately brunette, was booked in the Sunday night death of Charles H. Heyl, 38. She was his third wife. No bond was set.

Heyl was shot in the chest in the hallway of his fashionable home at Spanish Fort on the eastern shore of Mobile Bay.

Mrs. Heyl consented to an interview in jail but she would tell reporters only that "it was an accident." She refused to say anything further on the advice of her attorney.

Sheriff Taylor Wilkins said Mrs. Heyl, at one time a WAC officer, told him the shooting occurred during an argument. He said she was too upset to tell what the argument was about.

The sheriff quoted her as saying Heyl got the pistol from a bedroom and she took it away from him in the hallway. She said the weapon discharged while they were struggling for it.

Baltimore Widow Named Maryland Mother Of 1960

ANNAPOLIS (AP)—A 66-year-old Baltimore widow who became a successful businesswoman, completed raising her family and found time for numerous civic and charitable endeavors, Monday was named Maryland's Mother of the Year for 1960.

Selection of Mrs. Elizabeth Bowling Cook by a five-judge committee was announced by Mrs. Allene L. Moreland of Lothian, state chairman of the American Mothers Committee Inc. and Maryland Mother of 1959.

Mrs. Cook, the former Elizabeth Bowling of Hughesville, Charles County, is the mother of seven grown sons and daughters and has 16 grandchildren.

Her husband, Victor I. Cook Jr., a Baltimore attorney, died in 1942. Two years later, one of her four sons, Lt. Frederick C. Cook, an Air Force bombardier, was killed in action over England.

Her oldest son, Victor Jr., had completed college at Villanova but all the rest of the children were still in grade or high school.

Mrs. Cook, although she had no previous business experience, became an insurance writer to support her family and school her children.

She sold more than a million dollars worth of insurance in 1949 and became one of the few women in the United States to attain that honor.

Mrs. Cook will receive a special citation from Gov. Tawes next Monday in connection with Maryland Mother's Week and will represent Maryland in the competi-

O'Connor Widow, Children Share Bulk Of Estate

BALTIMORE (AP)—The bulk of the estate left by Herbert R. O'Connor, former Maryland governor and U.S. senator, will go to his widow and five children.

O'Connor's will was executed in December, 1958, and was filed in Orphan's Court Monday by his sons as executors. The estimated estate includes more than $50,000 in personal property and $25,000 in other property.

The former governor died March 4. After specific bequests, he left one-half his estate in trust to his wife, Mrs. Eugenia O'Connor. The other half was to be divided into five equal shares with a share going to three sons and a daughter immediately. They are Herbert R. O'Connor Jr., James P. O'Connor, Eugene F. O'Connor and Mrs. Patricia Farley.

The fifth share was to be placed in trust for another son, Robert J. O'Connor, when he reaches the age of 30.

Among specific bequests, O'Connor left $2,000 each to six brothers and sisters, Mrs. Vincent DePaul Fitzpatrick, Mrs. H. Edgar Hamm, William J. O'Connor, Mrs. William Gentry and John J. O'Connor, all of Baltimore, and James G. O'Connor of Washington.

Also in his will, O'Connor left $2,000 each to the Archbishop of Baltimore to be used for Catholic charities and the associate professors of Loyola College here.

Jack Indictment Killed By Court

NEW YORK (AP)—Manhattan Borough President Hulan Jack's indictment on conflict of interest charges was thrown out of court Monday. The highest Negro city official in the county immediately prepared to resume the $25,000-a-year post he relinquished under fire.

The two-month-old indictment grew out of Jack's acceptance of a $4,400 remodeling job on his Harlem apartment from his white, one-time campaign manager. The latter, real estate man Sidney Unger, was interested at the time in gaining city approval for a multimillion-dollar slum clearance project.

General Sessions Court Judge Gerald P. Cuklin ruled that the indictment was not properly drawn. But he did not attempt to kill the case. He said the district attorney's office may start all over again with a new grand jury inquiry into the conduct of Jack 32.

Md. Auto Toll Climbs To 106

By The Associated Press

Maryland's traffic toll for the year soared to 106 Monday with the deaths of three persons, two of them in a collision near Frederick and one in Baltimore.

The traffic toll stood at 101 on this date one year ago.

The latest victims were: Robert Lee Roy Wheeland, 28, of Lawtell, La.

Robert L. Ponder, 25, also of Lawtell.

Virginia Lee Malinowski, 31, of Parkville, Baltimore County.

Wheeland and Ponder were killed when a foreign car in which they were riding smashed into the rear of a parked truck near Frederick and wedged beneath the trailer.

Ponder was a soldier stationed at Fort Detrick near Frederick and Wheeland was a salesman for the Frederick Auto Co. and apparently was the driver of the small car.

Police said the car apparently ran off the road as it rounded a curve on U.S. 15 about two miles north of Frederick. The truck was not occupied.

In the Baltimore accident, Mrs. Malinowski was driving alone when her car and a second auto collided at a Baltimore County intersection. Three men in the other vehicle were injured slightly.

Mistrial Refused In Motherwell Case

DOWNTOWNEVILLE, Calif. (AP)—The court refused a motion for a mistrial in the Larry Lord Motherwell murder case Monday after a row between the prosecutor and the defense attorney.

Sierra County Dist. Atty. Gordon I. Smith soared to a bitter climax in his summary by calling chief defense attorney John T. Reges, of Washington, D.C., "the biggest phony you've hear in your lives."

"They have presented a bum defense, a bum defendant, and a bum attorney," he declared.

Reges jumped up and objected: "I can't take that, Your Honor. I consider myself a worthy attorney."

Superior Judge Warren Steel neither sustained nor overruled the objection, but cautioned Smith to "stay within the record and keep away from personalities."

Reges, defending the 42-year-old Washington construction worker charged with murdering Mrs. Pearl Putney, 72-year-old well-to-do Washington widow, then moved to have the proceedings declared a mistrial.

Judge Steel denied the motion and recessed court until 10 a. m. Tuesday when he is expected to instruct the jury.

Private Probe Agency Enters Campbell Case

BALTIMORE (AP)—The head of the Maryland Criminal Investigating Committee, a private organization, said Monday his agency has evidence proving the identity of Christopher C. Campbell.

Campbell, a Baltimore County farmer, was indicted by the York County grand jury on three abortion charges.

However, Gov. J. Millard Tawes of Maryland, at a hearing in Annapolis Feb. 22, refused to order the extradition to Pennsylvania of Campbell on the ground that York County officials listed him as Charles Christopher Campbell in its indictment.

Alvin J. T. Zumburn, executive secretary of the criminal investigating committee, said that certain issues involving the Campbell case have had his agency's interest for more than a year.

March 3, he said the Maryland committee sent a letter to Tawes stating, "We feel strongly that a failure to extradite this individual (Campbell) under the new indictment would be a grave miscarriage of justice."

Zumburn said his agency's letter also said:

"During our investigation, we were privileged to observe documents and photographs which in our opinion proved beyond any doubt to a mathematical certainty that the individual present in your office at the extradition hearing on Feb. 22, 1960, is the same individual charged in the Pennsylvania indictment in question."

Zumburn said he received a reply from the governor last Thursday stating:

"I was not aware that a new indictment was handed down to the York County grand jury, naming the defendant as Christopher C. Campbell as well as Charles C. Campbell."

"If the original indictment had so named the defendant there is little doubt that the request for extradition would have been honored."

He said he expects a new extradition hearing, based on the new indictment, to be scheduled sometime this week in Annapolis.

WAC Major Shot To Death

EDGEWOOD, Md. (AP)—A 44-year-old WAC major was found shot in the head Monday at this Army Chemical Center. An officer said there was a pistol in her hand.

Maj. Billie D. Melvin of Fayetteville, N. C., an adjutant at the center's chemical warfare laboratories, died an hour later, a spokesman said, at the Aberdeen (Md.) Proving Ground Hospital.

There was no ruling on the death. The Edgewood spokesman said a special board of officers was appointed to investigate the death and will begin hearings Tuesday.

Lt. Col. Douglas Lindsey said he and Capt. Malcolm Bower, both medical officers, went to the woman's room to find her when she failed to report at the laboratory during the morning.

Lindsey said he and Bowers knocked on her door and, when there was no response, walked into her room. Lindsey said he heard heavy breathing behind a closet door and heard a shot when he went to open the door.

He and Bower said they found the WAC officer behind the door, a small non-military pistol in her hand.

A base spokesman said Maj. Melvin had been in the Army for 16 years and was stationed at Edgewood for two or three years.

Adenauer, Gen-Gurion Meet Face-To-Face

NEW YORK (AP)—West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer and Israeli Premier David Ben-Gurion held their first face-to-face meeting Monday. Their expressions of good will relegated to the past a heritage of hatred between their peoples.

Adenauer described himself as deeply moved by their two-hour meeting in the Waldorf Towers. He and Ben-Gurion are stopping at the hotel during visits to this country.

In its natural state, sugar maple sap tastes like water.

Mental Patient Held In Shooting Of Psychiatrist

BALTIMORE (AP)—A chief psychiatrist was shot and wounded Monday in his eleventh-floor office of the Veterans Administration mental hygiene clinic.

Moments later police captured a mental patient in the doctor's inner office and took the suspected gunman to police headquarters for questioning.

A few minutes after his secretary admitted the patient into his office, Dr. Harry Goldsmith staggered out of the office with a bullet wound in the abdomen.

He was taken to Mercy Hospital where his condition was described as good.

Police described the mental patient as a 35-year-old unemployed Glen Burnie man. Officers said they took a .25 caliber pistol from him. One bullet from the weapon had been fired.

Death Decreed For Terrorists In Argentina

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (AP)—Shocked by a new wave of bombings, President Arturo Frondizi gave Argentina's armed forces new weapons Monday against ex-dictator Juan D. Peron's followers. Terrorist agitators now face the death penalty.

Frondizi conferred with military leaders and signed an emergency decree putting into effect a prearranged "plan conintes." Details are not fully known, but some call the scheme martial law.

The word "conintes" derives from the Spanish concoction interna, or domestic commotion.

Military authorities said part of the plan is a provision for summary trial and execution of anyone found "disrupting peace" by sabotage or bombing. Military courts will handle the cases.

It was the military that threw Peron out in 1955 and handed power to civilians in 1958. Many officers want to make sure the civilians stay in power.

Frondizi's government has ruled under a state of siege or modified martial law for about 18 months. It has already accused the Peronists of trying to disrupt parliamentary elections scheduled March 27 and force the government to cancel them.

Peronist parties have been barred from public campaigning.

Federal Numbering Of Boats Will Begin

WASHINGTON (AP)—Federal numbering of powered boats of more than 10 horsepower will begin April 1 in the 15 states which do not have their own numbering systems.

The Coast Guard announced Monday that on that date it will begin receiving applications under the Federal Boating Act of 1958 through post offices in these areas including the District of Columbia.

The Coast Guard has approved numbering systems for 25 states.

The Coast Guard said Maryland, Kentucky, Louisiana, Mississippi, and Virginia may pass numbering laws in the near future and federal registration in these states will be postponed until July 1 or until the state acts prior to that date.

St. Andrew's EUB Unit Formed At Local Church

St. Andrew's Chapter of Evangelical United Brethren Men was presented a charter during a ceremony Sunday at First EUB Church here.

Raymond Swadley, Ridgeley, president of the Keyser-Cumberland District of the denomination, presented the charter and installed the following officers:

John Murphy, president; Milton Johnson, vice president; Paul D. Long, secretary; Charles Kovach, assistant secretary, and Ralph Isminger Jr., treasurer.

The denomination organization was organized by Rev. Dr. W. R. Montgomery of Dayton, Ohio, director of men's work for the Evangelical United Brethren Church. It is hoped that chapters will be organized at each church that forms the 800,000-member denomination.

Rev. Dr. E. E. Miller, pastor of First EUB Church, said St. Andrew's Chapter will assist in promoting the program of the church, participate in its religious education and visitation evangelism programs and conduct services on designated times and days. The men also will provide assistance in the care of the physical plant, Rev. Dr. Miller said.

Meetings will be held on the first Monday of each month, the pastor said, adding that the first project of the organization will be participation in a week of visitation evangelism scheduled April 3-10.

Holy Week will follow the evangelism project, Rev. Dr. Miller said. The observance will be concluded by the reception of new members on Easter Sunday.

Boys Begin Jail Terms

The two 16-year-old escapees from the New Germany Forestry Camp for Boys, who were sentenced last week to three years each in the Maryland Reformatory for Males, have been transported to the institution, according to Garrett County Sheriff James Frantz.

The youths were sentenced by Associate Judge Neil C. Fraley in Garrett County Circuit Court on two separate charges, grand larceny and escape. Judge Fraley said the terms for each were to run concurrently.

The pair, Donald Charles Jackey, Frederick, and Robert McFadden, Cumberland, were arrested January 7. They waived their right to indictment by grand jury, which was charged yesterday by Judge Fraley, and requested immediate trial. The case was heard last Monday.

Both pleaded guilty to escape from the forestry camp and larceny of an automobile. They stole a pick-up truck from Henry J. Hummell, Star Route, Frostburg, and while attempting to elude capture, forced a Pennsylvania trooper's car off the highway.

Local Elks' Ritual Team Wins Honors

Allegany Class To Hold Reunion

Mrs. Nancy Taylor Williams, 65 Shriver Avenue, is in charge of reservations for the class reunion of the Class of 1943 of Allegany High School.

She requests those graduates who have not received letters from the committee to call her at PA 2-6026.

Any member of the class who did not graduate who would like to attend should also call Mrs. Williams.

The event is set in July at the Shrine Country Club.

Drip-dry tablecloths are a new convenience. Just launder by hand or machine, rinse away suds, and hang to drip dry. With no ironing needed, laundry time is cut to a minimum.

When washing crystal and delicate china, line your dishpan with a towel. The soft fabric will act as a cushion, guarding against chips and scratches during sudsing and rinsing.

St. Andrew's EUB Unit Formed At Local Church

St. Andrew's Chapter of Evangelical United Brethren Men was presented a charter during a ceremony Sunday at First EUB Church here.

Raymond Swadley, Ridgeley, president of the Keyser-Cumberland District of the denomination, presented the charter and installed the following officers:

John Murphy, president; Milton Johnson, vice president; Paul D. Long, secretary; Charles Kovach, assistant secretary, and Ralph Isminger Jr., treasurer.

The denomination organization was organized by Rev. Dr. W. R. Montgomery of Dayton, Ohio, director of men's work for the Evangelical United Brethren Church. It is hoped that chapters will be organized at each church that forms the 800,000-member denomination.

Rev. Dr. E. E. Miller, pastor of First EUB Church, said St. Andrew's Chapter will assist in promoting the program of the church, participate in its religious education and visitation evangelism programs and conduct services on designated times and days. The men also will provide assistance in the care of the physical plant, Rev. Dr. Miller said.

Meetings will be held on the first Monday of each month, the pastor said, adding that the first project of the organization will be participation in a week of visitation evangelism scheduled April 3-10.

Holy Week will follow the evangelism project, Rev. Dr. Miller said. The observance will be concluded by the reception of new members on Easter Sunday.

Robert Mertens Honored By DeMolay Majority

The DeMolay Majority Association named the "DeMolay Boy of the Year" at its annual Ladies Night and 14th anniversary party, Friday evening, at the Ali Ghan Country Club.

Wayne Couter presented Robert Mertens as the DeMolay Boy of the Year, who expressed his appreciation for the award. A member of Cumberland Chapter DeMolay, Robert is the senior band conductor at Fort Hill High School, president of the Youth for Christ Club, organist for the DeMolay and his church and missionary supervisor for his Sunday school. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Mertens, were honored with him.

Dist. Nurses Chairmen Named

District 1, Maryland State Nurses Association, will meet March 24, at 8 p. m., in the Sacred Heart Hospital nurses' home, Bellevue Street.

Miss Jeanne Dauphin appointed her committees for the year at the last meeting, held in Memorial Hospital nurses' home. Mrs. Wilhemina Shockey, who represented the district at the meeting of the General Duty Section, held in Baltimore in February, gave her report.

Chairmen named are Miss Nancy Neal, Private Duty Section; Miss LeAnnah Matthews, program; Miss Margaret Lee Lynch, publicity; Miss Mary Jane Shaw, ways and means, assisted by Miss Joan Neubiser, Miss Rhoda Walters, and Miss Joan Hafer. Miss Harriett Boore is chairman of the budget committee, with Mrs. Geraldine Riggleman, treasurer of the association; and Miss Dauphin, serving with her.

Co-chairmen of hospitality are Mrs. Stelle Sell and Mrs. Shockey. Mrs. Jean Eaton is membership chairman. Serving with her are Mrs. Vada McGann, Miss Mary Marshall and Mrs. Dorothy Emerson. Miss Christine Williams was named chairman of the constitution and by-laws and Miss E. G. Womack and Mrs. Mary Bartlett, the nominating committee.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Wotring, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Brode, Mr. and Mrs. Bender Wotring, Janet Brode and Thomas Wotring, Christie Road, spent the weekend in Rockville, visiting Mr. and Mrs. Roland Stemple.

Auxiliary Will Buy Tea Pots

The Ladies Auxiliary of the LaVale Volunteer Fire Company voted to purchase individual tea pots for banquets and dinners, at a brief meeting Friday evening at the firehall.

Mrs. Fannie Kemp presided. Mrs. Elizabeth Moody offered prayer. Routine reports were given by Mrs. Flo Alexander, Mrs. Jeanette Pritts and Mrs. Lelola Knieriem. A sympathy card was sent to Mrs. Mary Stevens on the loss of her brother. The prize for the evening was won by Mrs. Moody.

Thirteen members attended the auxiliary meeting and 11 went on to the county executive meeting.

Local Clubs Participate In District CARE Project

The Woman's Civic Club, Junior Woman's Civic Club and LaVale Century Club as members of the First District, General Federation of Women's Clubs are participating in the CARE project of the federation.

A brief service was conducted and plea made for CARE by Mrs. Benjamin R. Lewis, Jr., at the meeting of the Woman's Civic Club last November. A donation of $40 was raised that afternoon and sent to the state chairman. A total of $192.95 was collected by the First District.

For the past year and one half the federation has been working on the CARE project, to provide self help equipment to rural villages in Mexico. Books, plows, carpentry tools, sewing machines, recreation kits, midwives kits, agricultural hand tools have been sent to 16 Mexican villages through the contributions of the Maryland clubwomen.

Through the efforts of village workers, who have been trained in community development work by the Mexican government, these tools have been put to use by the villagers. For the first time in their lives these people have beds, chairs, tables, fresh vegetables, paved floors in their huts, schools and community centers. Mrs. Robert Klein, Frederick, CARE project chairman, reports.

She also explained that for the first time in their lives the residents of many villages are seeing people from the outside world. The delivery of development equipment by burro, proved to be the stimulus needed to build a road, so that now the villagers can take their goods to market.

Queen City Council, 114, DoFA, will meet at 7:30 tonight at Malta hall. It will be preceded by a third anniversary supper at 6.

Mrs. Thelma Niland will entertain the Queen City Mud Hens at a meeting tonight at her studio, North Mechanic Street.

Rev. And Mrs. W. A. Judy Observe 58th Anniversary

Rev. and Mrs. William A. Judy, Cresaptown, celebrated their 58th wedding anniversary Sunday, first by attending church services and then going out to dinner. They received friends informally at their home, during the evening.

Both sang in the choir, of which they have been members for 30 years, for the service at Cresaptown Methodist Church. Friday the Suzanna Wesley Zone paid recognition to Mrs. Judy, a key woman from her church, at the meeting held in Centre Street church. Mr. and Mrs. Martin Johnson, son-in-law and daughter of Rev. and Mrs. Judy, and the latter's sister, accompanied the couple at the dinner at the Howard Johnson restaurant.

The former Miss Bertha Robb, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. John Robb, Lewisburg, Pa., and late of Cass, W. Va., became the bride of William Andrew Judy, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. James Allen Judy, Roncove, W. Va., March 12, 1902. Original plans for the wedding were to have the ceremony in Cass, where the bride's father owned and operated a hotel. But the night before the wedding the hotel was almost destroyed by fire, so the young couple went to Washington, where they were married in the Baker Hotel, with Rev. Wycliff, a Methodist minister, officiating. Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Furbush, Portland, Me., were their attendants.

Rev. and Mrs. Judy were the Top scores in North-South were Mrs. Joseph Knepp and Mrs. G. Morgan Smith, 130; Mrs. John Laughlin and Mrs. Madeline Mewshaw, 127; Mrs. Mary Deal and Edgar J. Dawson, 125, and Mrs. Samuel Dezen and Mrs. William Snyder, 118.

Leaders in East-West were Mrs. William Frailey and A. J. Feigus, 141; Miss Rose Jackson and Mrs. Frederick Puderbaugh, 128; Mrs. Russell Bortz and Mrs. Norman W. Taylor, 111, and Mrs. Harvey Aronson and Miss Loretta Hanon, 108 1/2.

The Potomac Valley Bridge Club will play a game today at the club house, beginning at 8 p. m.

Class To Present Show

Announcement of a variety show was made at the meeting of the Wesley Fellowship Class of Cresaptown Methodist Church held recently in the church social room. Wayne Thomas presided.

Mrs. JoAnn McGill and Mrs. Velma Miller announced that the next meeting will be a variety show presented by members of the class. Mrs. Marguerite Richardson led the devotional service.

The guest speaker was Rev. Bruce Price of Park Place Methodist Church. His topic was "Faith Healing."

Hostesses for the evening were Mrs. Dorothy Hosier and Martha Lease.

Others present were Rev. Robert Bavender, Mrs. K. O. Nelson, Mrs. Bert Ramsey, Mrs. Hazel Cowgill, Mrs. Julia Lewis, Mrs. Beulah Feight, Mrs. Evelyn Phillips, Mr. and Mrs. Delbert Lease, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Hedrick, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Fatkin, Lester McGill, Mr. and Mrs. Warren Murphy, Mr. and Mrs. James Glover, Walter Richardson and Mrs. Wayne Thomas.

Mrs. Robert Wilkins Heads Newcomers Club

Officers were elected, announcements made and a citation received at the meeting of the Newcomers Club, Thursday evening at the Girl Scout house.

Mrs. Robert Wilkins was elected president; Miss Mary Nuce, vice president; Mrs. H. W. Francis, secretary; Mrs. Robert Kuenzig, corresponding secretary, and Mrs. Leroy Barrett, treasurer.

April 9 was announced by Mrs. William Thronburg as the date for the annual spring luncheon and card party at which time there also will be installation of officers. It will be at the Cumberland Country Club at 1 p. m. She said it is not necessary to make up tables before the party. It is for members, out of town and house guests. Reservations are to be made by April 4 with her or the card captains. Cancellations may be no later than the seventh. If not cancelled the member will be obligated to pay for her tickets.

For its participation in the toy drive for the Navy, Capt. R. V. Molesky had the club receive a certificate of appreciation. The citation was from the Navy Fifth Marine Corps Reserve and Recruitment District.

Speaking of membership, Mrs. Fred Mitchell reported 142 active card players, which includes bridge, canasta and regular 500. She said after being members for three years a "Newcomer" may enter the Alumnae Group, but an inactive member may go into the alumnae in two years, to participate in card clubs and a few activities. Anyone changing her address is asked to notify her or Mrs. Kuenzig as a new roster will be published soon.

Announcement was made of the presentation of an electric razor for the County Infirmary and a hair dryer for the patients at the county home. The remaining $35 will be used for a high fidelity record player for the children's ward at Memorial Hospital.

Reporting on the housing situation, Mrs. Judson Collins asked to be notified of rooms, apartments or houses available, as they are in great demand. She also reported a bowling banquet would be held in May. Anyone thinking of joining a new league, which will begin in September, is to register at the banquet. Mrs. J. J. Rehak announced that the dancing lessons by Mrs. Peg Mackert are successful and no new members will be taken until another class starts in eight weeks. Members were reminded of the spring dance, June 10 at the Cumberland Country Club. Music will be by the Modernaires. Mrs. James Butterfield is chairman.

Mrs. Ray Dickerson conducted the meeting. Other officers serving with her were Mrs. Raymond Buranello, Mrs. Rehak, Mrs. Kuenzig and Mrs. William Wilson. Two new members were received. They were Mrs. Charles Kovach, from Greenville, Pa., and Mrs. Ralph W. Prater, Bonger, Texas. Both husbands are with Allegany Ballistics Laboratory. Hostesses for the evening were Mrs. Joseph Maribelle and Mrs. Lloyd Lundy.

Permanently pleated wash-wear clothes should be hung sopping wet and allowed to drip-dry.

Clip clothespins at the hemline to hold each pleat; this will help the weight of the water to "pull out" extra wrinkles and keep the pleats in place. To sharpen creases, run down their length with thumb and forefinger, pinching each crease while the fabric is still damp.

Bi-County Auxiliary Convention Discussed

The county convention was discussed at the executive meeting of the Allegany-Garrett Firemen's Auxiliary held Friday at the Bedford Road fire hall. Mrs. Margaret Arnold, Lonaconing, presided. Mrs. Frances Comp, Deer Park, reported progress of the plans for the convention in Deer Park in June. Mrs. Edna Green, at the piano. On behalf of the Bedford Road Auxiliary, Mrs. Dorothy Wilson presented a picture of past presidents and auxiliaries he sent to her as soon as possible, so they will be ready for the convention. Mrs. Alma Wilt, District 16, asked for the convention. There also was a discussion of notifying all auxiliaries of the quarterly county meetings. An invitation was extended to Green in May.

Entertainment consisted of a skit by the host group, in the form of a reading, "The Joys of Ill Health," by Mrs. Madeyn Little. Busy mother keeps tab on phone calls

Diary shows phone saved days of time,
156 miles of travel and $11.70 in two weeks

Mrs. Harris of La Vale, Maryland, talks over Choral Society plans with a friend—while 4-year-old Carolyn keeps tabs on Mother.

Mrs. Harris is the mother of two small boys, ages 6 and 8, and a pre-school daughter. Her husband is a teacher. With youngsters this age, and a husband whose profession calls for continual contact with parents, a phone often seems like a necessity.

Mrs. Harris decided she'd find

Robert Mertens Honored By DeMolay Majority

The DeMolay Majority Association named the "DeMolay Boy of the Year" at its annual Ladies Night and 14th anniversary party, Friday evening, at the Ali Ghan Country Club.

Wayne Couter presented Robert Mertens as the DeMolay Boy of the Year, who expressed his appreciation for the award. A member of Cumberland Chapter DeMolay, Robert is the senior band conductor at Fort Hill High School, president of the Youth for Christ Club, organist for the DeMolay and his church and missionary supervisor for his Sunday school. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Mertens, were honored with him.

The invocation was offered by Glendon Kline, Carroll Andrews, dinner chairman; and John Hare, association president, extended welcomes. The latter introduced John Hafer, Sr., who spoke on his European travels; the former presented his committee members. Each woman received a gift. Seventy members and guests attended.

Chairmen named are Miss Nancy Neal, Private Duty Section; Miss LeAnnah Matthews, program; Miss Margaret Lee Lynch, publicity; Miss Mary Jane Shaw, ways and means, assisted by Miss Joan Neubiser, Miss Rhoda Walters, and Miss Joan Hafer, Miss Harriett Boore is chairman of the budget committee, with Mrs. Geraldine Rigmaleman, treasurer of the association; and Miss Dauphin, serving with her.

Co-chairmen of hospitality are Mrs. Stelle Sell and Mrs. Shockey, Mrs. Jean Eaton is membership chairman. Serving with her are Mrs. Vada McGann, Miss Mary Marshall and Mrs. Dorothy Emerson. Miss Christine Williams was named chairman of the constitution and by-laws and Miss E. G. Womack and Mrs. Mary Bartlett, the nominating committee.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Wotring, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Brode, Mr. and Mrs. Bender Wotring, Janet Brode and Thomas Wotring, Christie Road, spent the weekend in Rockville, visiting Mr. and Mrs. Roland Stemple.

Dist. Nurses Chairmen Named

District 1, Maryland State Nurses Association, will meet March 24, at 8 p. m., in the Sacred Heart Hospital nurses' home, Bellevue Street.

Miss Jeanne Dauphin appointed her committees for the year at the last meeting, held in Memorial Hospital nurses' home. Mrs. Wilhemina Shockey, who represented the district at the meeting of the General Duty Section, held in Baltimore in February, gave her report.

Chairmen named are Miss Nancy Neal, Private Duty Section; Miss LeAnnah Matthews, program; Miss Margaret Lee Lynch, publicity; Miss Mary Jane Shaw, ways and means, assisted by Miss Joan Neubiser, Miss Rhoda Walters, and Miss Joan Hafer, Miss Harriett Boore is chairman of the budget committee, with Mrs. Geraldine Rigmaleman, treasurer of the association; and Miss Dauphin, serving with her.

Auxiliary Will Buy Tea Pots

The Ladies Auxiliary of the LaVale Volunteer Fire Company voted to purchase individual tea pots for banquets and dinners, at a brief meeting Friday evening at the firehall.

Mrs. Fannie Kemp presided. Mrs. Elizabeth Moody offered prayer. Routine reports were given by Mrs. Flo Alexander, Mrs. Jeanette Pritts and Mrs. Lelola Knieriem. A sympathy card was sent to Mrs. Mary Stevens on the loss of her brother. The prize for the evening was won by Mrs. Moody.

Thirteen members attended the auxiliary meeting and 11 went on to the county executive meeting.

Local Clubs Participate In District CARE Project

The Woman's Civic Club, Junior Woman's Civic Club and LaVale Century Club as members of the First District, General Federation of Women's Clubs are participating in the CARE project of the federation.

A brief service was conducted and plea made for CARE by Mrs. Benjamin R. Lewis, Jr., at the meeting of the Woman's Civic Club last November. A donation of $40 was raised that afternoon and sent to the state chairman. A total of $192.95 was collected by the First District.

For the past year and one half the federation has been working on the CARE project, to provide self help equipment to rural villages in Mexico. Books, plows, carpentry tools, sewing machines, recreation kits, midwives kits, agricultural hand tools have been sent to 16 Mexican villages through the contributions of the Maryland clubwomen.

Through the efforts of village workers, who have been trained in community development work by the Mexican government, these tools have been put to use by the villagers. For the first time in their lives these people have beds, chairs, tables, fresh vegetables, paved floors in their huts, schools and community centers. Mrs. Robert Klein, Frederick, CARE project chairman, reports.

She also explained that for the first time in their lives the residents of many villages are seeing people from the outside world. The delivery of development equipment by burro, proved to be the stimulus needed to build a road, so that now the villagers can take their goods to market.

Queen City Council, 114, DofA, will meet at 7:30 tonight at Malta hall. It will be preceded by a third anniversary supper at 6.

Mrs. Thelma Niland will entertain the Queen City Mud Hens at a meeting tonight at her studio, North Mechanic Street.

Rev. And Mrs. W. A. Judy Observe 58th Anniversary

Rev. and Mrs. William A. Judy, Cresaptown, celebrated their 58th wedding anniversary Sunday, first by attending church services and then going out to dinner. They received friends informally at their home, during the evening.

Both sang in the choir, of which they have been members for 30 years, for the service at Cresaptown Methodist Church. Friday the Suzanne Wesley Zone paid recognition to Mrs. Judy, a key woman from her church, at the meeting held in Centre Street church. Mr. and Mrs. Martin Johnson, son-in-law and daughter of Rev. and Mrs. Judy, and Mrs. Letta Buckingham, the latter's sister, accompanied the couple at the dinner at the Howard Johnson restaurant.

The former Miss Bertha Robb, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. John Robb, Lewisburg, Pa., and late of Cass, W. Va., became the bride of William Andrew Judy, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. James Allen Judy, Roncove, W. Va., March 12, 1902. Original plans for the wedding were to have the ceremony in Cass, where the bride's father owned and operated a hotel. But the night before the wedding the hotel was almost destroyed by fire, so the young couple went to Washington, where they were married in the Baker Hotel, with Rev. Wycliff, a Methodist minister, officiating. Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Furbush, Portland, Me., were their attendants.

Rev. and Mrs. Judy were the parents of five children with only Mrs. Johnson living. They have two grandchildren. Mrs. Judy Ost, Fort Worth, Texas, and Martin Johnson Jr., student at Potomac State College.

For the first five years of their marriage, Rev. Judy was a telegraph operator for the railroad. Then he entered the Theological Seminary at Westminster. His first charge was at Rawlings, from where he went to Midland. When his health failed he obtained work at the Celanese Corporation, retiring in 1952 after 26 years service as an accountant. Rev. Judy filled pulpits calls and was teacher of the Men's Bible Class until his eyesight failed. Since a successful operation, he has returned to his hobby of reading. Although critically ill the first part of the year, he assisted in the morning service Sunday at Cresaptown Methodist Church and is "looking forward to their 60th anniversary celebration." Mrs. Judy, who is "just fine," is a member of the Cresaptown Homemakers Club, secretary of the Sunday school class at Cresaptown church, reads, does crocheting and her home duties and gardening in the summer.

Mrs. Robert Wilkins Heads Newcomers Club

Officers were elected, announcements made and a citation received at the meeting of the Newcomers Club, Thursday evening at the Girl Scout house.

Mrs. Robert Wilkins was elected president; Miss Mary Nuce, vice president; Mrs. H. W. Francis, secretary; Mrs. Robert Kuenzig, corresponding secretary, and Mrs. Leroy Barrett, treasurer.

April 9 was announced by Mrs. William Thronburg as the date for the annual spring luncheon and card party at which time there also will be installation of officers. It will be at the Cumberland Country Club at 1 p. m. She said it is not necessary to make up tables before the party. It is for members, out of town and house guests. Reservations are to be made by April 4 with her or the card captains. Cancellations may be no later than the seventh. If not cancelled the member will be obligated to pay for her tickets.

For its participation in the toy drive for the Navy, Capt. R. V. Molesky had the club receive a certificate of appreciation. The citation was from the Navy Fifth Marine Corps Reserve and Recruitment District.

Speaking of membership, Mrs. Fred Mitchell reported 142 active card players, which includes bridge, canasta and regular 500. She said after being members for three years a "Newcomer" may enter the Alumnae Group, but an inactive member may go into the alumnae in two years, to participate in card clubs and a few activities. Anyone changing her address is asked to notify her or Mrs. Kuenzig as a new roster will be published soon.

Announcement was made of the presentation of an electric razor for the County Infirmary and a hair dryer for the patients at the county home. The remaining $35 will be used for a high fidelity record player for the children's ward at Memorial Hospital.

Reporting on the housing situation, Mrs. Judson Collins asked to be notified of rooms, apartments or houses available, as they are in great demand. She also reported a bowling banquet would be held in May. Anyone thinking of joining a new league, which will begin in September, is to register at the banquet. Mrs. J. J. Rehak announced that the dancing lessons by Mrs. Peg Mackert are successful and no new members will be taken until another class starts in eight weeks. Members were reminded of the spring dance, June 10 at the Cumberland Country Club. Music will be by the Modernaires. Mrs. James Butterfield is chairman.

Mrs. Ray Dickerson conducted the meeting. Other officers serving with her were Mrs. Raymond Buranello, Mrs. Rehak, Mrs. Kuenzig and Mrs. William Wilson. Two new members were received. They were Mrs. Charles Kovach, from Greenville, Pa., and Mrs. Ralph W. Prater, Bonger, Texas. Both husbands are with Allegany Ballistics Laboratory. Hostesses for the evening were Mrs. Joseph Marville and Mrs. Lloyd Lundy.

Busy mother keeps tabs on phone calls

Diary shows phone saved days of time, 156 miles of travel and $11.70 in two weeks

Mrs. Harris is the mother of two small boys, ages 6 and 8, and a pre-school daughter. Her husband is a teacher. With youngsters this age, and a husband whose profession calls for continual contact with parents, a phone often seems like a necessity.

Mrs. Harris decided she'd find out for sure, so for two weeks she kept tabs on her phone calls with a telephone diary. Answers Your Problems

DEAR ANN: Do you think said not to be so materialistic — children should repay parents for education given beyond the high school level?

I'm referring to parents in modest circumstances who have to sacrifice home ownership for themselves in order to send their children to college. I might add, the parents I have in mind have several children and are seeing to it that each one gets a degree. Thank you. — CHARLEY WEST, VA.

DEAR ANN: I was disappointed in you when you backed up the teacher and told the parents of a 17-year-old boy to let him read anything in the public library. The specific book causing the controversy was the one banned by the postmaster general.

It was shocking that you should condone in print such cheap, salacious pornography. Even if the boy was mature, an excellent student and an avid reader, he still should not be permitted to fill his good mind with trash. — LET DOWN

DEAR ANN: My position is unchanged. A 17-year-old, mature, well-balanced, voracious reader who makes excellent grades SHOULD be permitted to make his own selection of reading material. I would not recommend such privileges for ALL 17-year-olds, but this boy is exceptional as his teacher testified.

Young kids who would hide behind the cowshed with dirty books are not likely to select a novel by the distinguished author D. H. Lawrence.

To learn the booby-traps of teen-age drinking, write for ANN LANDERS' booklet, "Teen-Age Drinking," enclosing with your request 20 cents in coin and a large, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

(Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.)

Valentine's Day he gave me a box of chewy candy and said, "Nobody at our house likes this stuff. My dad's boss always brings it when he comes to dinner."

I told my mother the next time he brings a second-hand gift I'm going to refuse to take it. She

HOLLYWOOD

By Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD — Laurence Harvey is up to his you-know-what in awards. Last year he won top honors for "Room at the Top". Yes, this picture was released in London a year before Hollywood saw it. Now Harvey is dashing off to London to accept an award for "Expresso Bongo." He is coming back to Hollywood in time for our Academy Awards, as he was nominated for his performance in "Room at the Top."

Margaret Leighton (Mrs. H. in private life) had expected to accept the award for him. He says she is very glad to get back to England to see his lovely Margaret, from whom he has been separated for several months.

The popularity of the "Un-touchables" TV show has extended even to Italy where Federico Fellini, famous producer-director is seeking Anthony George (Bob Stack's co-star) for "The Dirty Face of Crime." The oddity-titled drama is about an Italian hoodlum who is deported from the United States back to his native Italy. Fellini denies it has anything to do with the notorious Lucky Luciano and it's just a coincidence that Anthony George bears resemblance to the gangster chief. Oh sure, oh sure.

The feminine lead is set for Anita Ekberg whom Fellini directed in "Sweet Life" and this movie has brought the Swedish beauty her best reviews.

The only producer in this business with a major studio who doesn't have to worry about actors, is Walt Disney. While this miserable unhappy strike is going on, he will do something practical about it by returning to his first love—cartoons, to keep his studio in operation.

Walt has a story in work about the boyhood of King Arthur, on which he plans a budget of $4,000,000. It will keep his animators busy for some years. Actually, Walt had this idea in mind for some time, but now he's getting down to business, with the strike making life in any major studio, so difficult.

One of Lucille Ball's big heartaches in her divorce from Desi Arnaz was telling their two children about the final split. She worried and worried about the right way to do it once she had made up her mind to file her divorce action.

She solved it in a way that is typical of Lucy's thoughtfulness. She drove the children to Palm Springs where Desi had been living alone in their home. And, with their father present, the youngsters learned that mother and daddy would be apart, but that he would see them, many times. No television camera could hold to catch such a human, heartwarming scene as this private drama played by TV's darlings of comedy, Lucy and Desi.

"The Memoirs of a Professional Cad", George Sanders' book, which is appearing in the London Dispatch, is riotously funny. He tells about the first time he met his present wife, Benita Hume, the former Mrs. Ronald Colman. He said she introduced him to Andrea Leeds, trying to get him to marry Andrea but Andrea instead chose Bob Howard, a rich oil man. Then later he said everytime he saw Benita she would try to find a wife for him. "I had my eye on her," said George," but she married Ronald Colman."

One thing you can always be certain of in Hollywood is the news is always valuable for ideas. It was certain that the tragic diary of the young flyer who lost his life with eight of his fellow crewmen of the Lady Be Good bomber of World War II, would be registered.

Robert Lippert, the first to register a claim, will call his story, "Hell on Earth." He has assigned Jack Thomas and Jack Leewood

Answers Your Problems

DEAR ANN: Do you think said not to be so materialistic — children should repay parents for that it's the thought that counts. education given beyond the high school level?

I'm referring to parents in modest circumstances who have to sacrifice home ownership for themselves in order to send their children to college. I might add, the parents I have in mind have several children and are seeing to it that each one gets a degree. Thank you. — CHARLEY WEST, VA.

DEAR CHARLEY: Educating children is part of being good parents. This means beyond high school, if the student is serious and eager to get a higher education. When there are several children, each one should work part time and do whatever is possible to lighten the financial load.

Few kids say "thanks for educating me, folks" any more than they would say "thanks for giving me life." But, if they are worth their salt, they appreciate the sacrifices made by parents and say "thank you" later — in other ways.

Children who receive higher education usually wind up on a higher rung of the economic ladder. Parents who have sacrificed for their children in order to educate them should not have to worry about home ownership — or anything else — in their old age. The kids should look after them as a matter of personal integrity.

DEAR ANN: I'm a girl 16 who wants to know if I'm being silly or if I have a right to gripe.

My boy friend is 17. We've been going together a year. On my birthday he gave me a pink scarf and said, "My mother got this from my aunt but she doesn't like the color." On Christmas he gave me a pair of gloves and said, "These are too small for my sister. If they fit you, they're yours."

Valentine's Day he gave me a box of chewy candy and said, "Nobody at our house likes this stuff. My dad's boss always brings it when he comes to dinner."

I told my mother the next time he brings a second-hand gift I'm going to refuse to take it. She

HOLLYWOOD

By Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD — Laurence Harvey is up to his you-know-what in awards. Last year he won top honors for "Room at the Top". Yes, this picture was released in London a year before Hollywood saw it. Now Harvey is dashing off to London to accept an award for "Expresso Bongo," his second award this year. He is coming back to Hollywood in time for our Academy Awards, as he was nominated for his performance in "Room at the Top."

Margaret Leighton (Mrs. H. in private life) had expected to accept the award for him. He says she is very glad to get back to England to see his lovely Margaret, from whom he has been separated for several months.

The popularity of the "Untouchables" TV show has extended even to Italy where Federico Fellini, famous producer-director is seeking Anthony George (Bob Stack's co-star) for "The Dirty Face of Crime." The oddity-titled drama is about an Italian hoodlum who is deported from the United States back to his native Italy. Fellini denies it has anything to do with the notorious Lucky Luciano and it's just a coincidence that Anthony George bears resemblance to the gangster chief. Oh sure, oh sure.

The feminine lead is set for Anita Ekberg whom Fellini directed in "Sweet Life" and this movie has brought the Swedish beauty her best reviews.

The only producer in this business with a major studio who doesn't have to worry about actors, is Walt Disney. While this miserable unhappy strike is going on, he will do something practical about it by returning to his first love—cartoons, to keep his studio in operation.

Walt has a story in work about the boyhood of King Arthur, on which he plans a budget of $4,000,000. It will keep his animators busy for some years. Actually, Walt had this idea in mind for some time, but now he's getting into business, with the strike making life in any major studio, so difficult.

One of Lucille Ball's big heartaches in her divorce from Desi Arnaz was telling their two children about the final split. She worried and worried about the right way to do it once she had made up her mind to file her divorce action.

She solved it in a way that is typical of Lucy's thoughtfulness. She drove the children to Palm Springs where Desi had been living alone in their home. And, with their father present, the youngsters learned that mother and daddy would be apart, but that he would see them, many times. No television camera could hope to catch such a human, heartwarming scene as this private drama played by TV's darlings of comedy, Lucy and Desi.

"The Memoirs of a Professional Cad," George Sanders' book which is appearing in the London Dispatch, is riotously funny. He tells about the first time he met his present wife, Benita Hume, the former Mrs. Ronald Colman.

He said she introduced him to Andrea Leeds, trying to get him to marry Andrea but Andrea instead chose Bob Howard, a rich oil man. Then later he said every time he saw Benita he would try to find a wife for him. "I had my eye on her," said George, but she married Ronald Colman.

One thing you can always be certain of in Hollywood is the news is always valuable for ideas. It was certain that the tragic diary of the young flyer who lost his life with eight of his fellow crewmen of the Lady Be Good bomber of World War II, would be registered.

Robert Lippert, the first to register a claim, will call his story, "Hell on Earth." He has assigned Jack Thomas and Jack Leewood

Two Admitted To Hospital Here

A conductor for the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad was admitted to Memorial Hospital last night after he sustained an ankle injury in an accident near Swanton.

Admitted to the hospital was Charles Heinland, 48, of Buckhannon, W. Va. Mr. Heinland told hospital attendants he caught his ankle between two bumper blocks.

Engineer To Visit Area Dairy Farmers

Kenneth E. Felton, extension agricultural engineer of the University of Maryland, will visit Allegany and Garrett counties Wednesday, Thursday and Friday to talk with owners of various dairy farms in Western Maryland.

Mr. Felton said he will be in Allegany County on Wednesday and will visit Garrett County on Thursday and Friday. He will provide information and suggestions to farmers on how they can improve their farm structures and facilities.

Joseph E. Steger, county farm agent, said Mr. Felton is coming here at the request of several of the farm owners.

Patrolmen Confirmed

The Mayor and Council yesterday confirmed three patrolmen as regular members of the Cumberland Police Department and accepted the resignation of another officer.

Confirmed following the completion of probationary periods were Officer Muri S. Boggs, effective March 19; Officer James A. Brown, March 13, and Officer Joseph P. Nelson, March 13.

City officials accepted the resignation of William O. Braithwaite as a patrolman, effective on March 5.

An order authorizing the issuance of payroll checks on Wednesday was approved.

City Engineer C. R. Nuzum was authorized to prepare plans and estimates of the cost of building a wall along the easterly side of Valley Street, from Mechanic Street to Wills Creek. The work will be paid from the Flood Control account.

The City Sewer Crew was authorized to purchase materials and lay the Winifred Road sewer line. Cost was estimated at $19,899.

The order specified that money saved from the Special Projects fund be used for sewers and lateral lines on Memorial Avenue Extended.

Parking meter collections for the week ending March 6 totaled $621.30, a decrease of $97.70 from the previous week.

Knobley Mountain Legion Post To Meet

Knobley Mountain Post 136, Ridgeley American Legion, will hold a meeting tonight at 8 o'clock at the legion home. Chairman William McFadden said refreshments will be served after the business meeting.

The first kilts worn in Scotland were made from unsewn pieces of tartan, two yards wide and four to six yards long.

Fire Inspections Will Be Discussed

The fourth in a series of classes for officers of the Cumberland Fire Department will be held today from 9 a. m. to noon in Central Fire Station.

Chief Virgil Parker said the class will be taught by a University of Maryland instructor.

Home inspection will be stressed, he said, adding that the department plans to offer a home inspection program here shortly.

Romney Fly Ash Problem Aired By State Board

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—The Cabell County Board of Education Monday was accused of conducting a "reign of terror" in operation of the county's supplemental pension program for retired teachers.

The accusation was made by representatives of the Cabell County Assn. of Retired School Employees during an appearance before the State Board of Education.

Association president E. W. Taylor accused the school board of discrimination in distribution of supplemental pension payments. Among other things, he alleged that "politics" often determined who got the money.

Until last year, the county had not submitted its pension program for school personnel to the state board as required by law. However, a plan was submitted for the 1959-60 fiscal year and the board Monday approved it.

The board also disclosed Monday that an audit of the county's supplemental pension program by the State Tax Department was almost complete. When it's completed the board will check out certain of Taylor's figures with the audit.

Taylor alleged that certain retired teachers in Cabell County had never received any pension money. He also accused the school board of asking present employees to work against his organization. He said those employees "are afraid and trembling" that they will be fired unless his organization is halted.

In other action, the board took under consideration a plan designed to eliminate a coal dust problem at the state school for the Deaf and Blind at Romney.

Some Romney residents have complained of dust and ash originating from the school's central heating system. The plan, as recommended by an engineer, calls for the purchase of dust catching equipment.

The board Tuesday will conclude its two-day meeting by reopening bids on a new science-classroom building at West Liberty State College. The work was readvertised for bids following an earlier bid opening at which all bids were above the $1,200,000 available for the project.

The board Tuesday also will discuss a reorganization study of the State Education Department as recommended by Supt. R. Virgil Rohrbough. There also will be an informal conference with the council of state college presidents regarding 1960-61 budgets and policies.

Coldest March Record Likely This Month

Official statistics from the weather bureau confirm that this month is one of the coldest Marches on record.

"After reviewing the weather for the first two weeks of the month, the forecasters said this could go on record as the coldest March in the annals of the bureau. The records go back to the 1870s.

Normally, the highest temperatures this time of year reach into the mid-50s in Maryland, but to date most of the temperatures have been below freezing.

In Cumberland, R. R. Golden, weather observer at Constitution Park, said the weather has been under normal for the entire month. He added he believes it to be the coldest March on record.

March usually has a great range of temperatures, Mr. Golden explained, between the low 20s and the high 40s. Occasionally the mercury will dip to zero and one or two times in the past it has dipped slightly below zero in March.

However, he said, the normal temperature for the month is 40.7 degrees. This month the temperature has been very stable, almost constantly below freezing. Only four days have seen the mercury rise above 32 degrees, the highest to date being 36.

High yesterday in Cumberland was 34 degrees. Low for the day was 19 and at 6 o'clock the temperature had dropped to 31. The forecast for today is increasing cloudiness and not much change in temperature. There is a possibility of rain or snow within the next 24 to 36 hours.

Earnings Move

(Continued from Page 14) 1953 the company has added 17 corrugated box plants, a folding box company whose capacity is now being doubled, four multiwall bag plants and two grocery bag plants.

Mr. Luke said the company also has acquired and greatly expanded a Brazilian subsidiary which supplies about a quarter of the corrugated container needs of that country; established a building boards division at Tyrone, Pa., increased timberland holdings from 370,000 to 900,000 acres, and consolidated and expanded facilities for producing a variety of organic chemicals.

Growth of profits over the past five years has been inhibited by overcapacity in the industry, Mr. Luke observed, which makes it impossible to secure adjustments in selling prices comparable with advancing costs.

"Abrupt bulges in the creation of pulp and paper capacity are normally followed by periods in which the excess is absorbed by the growth in demand," he said. "While this will doubtless tend to occur in the future, as in the past, we in our company are not relying on it to enlarge our earning power."

He said West Virginia plans to assume an "indefinite continuance of vigorous competition."

"We think that increasing wage rates and the fast advance of technology will encourage the more aggressive units of the industry to seek economies by further expansion," he said.

Two Surfacing

The ordinances call for leveling, patching and resurfacing and in the case of Fayette Street, this would apply to the area from lower Cumberland Street to Braddock Road.

Attorney Thomas N. Berry, who said he represented 105 signers of a petition, a "spontaneous neighborhood operation and not a pressure movement," who opposed the resurfacing for the following reasons:

The petition had not been presented to city officials yesterday afternoon.

Cemeteries Involved

Two major cemeteries (Rose Hill and SS. Peter and Paul) are located on Fayette and a legal problem is involved in that the city attorney will have to rule whether the cemetery trustees or lot owners along the frontage should be billed for surfacing costs.

In the area from Smallwood Street to lower Cumberland Street (a rather steep hill) those in charge at SS. Peter and Paul Monastery and School feel that the concrete surface is much better from a traction standpoint than blacktop.

Petition signers, pointing to bumpy conditions in the center of some blocks, feel that this is strictly a maintenance problem for which the city is responsible.

Fayette Street residents feel the area is completely developed, that resurfacing will not increase values of property which are relatively fixed. It is also a street of small property owners many mostly with fixed income and the 50 per cent levy would work a hardship.

It is felt that morally, the street surface is a city problem. The street has been hit heavily by utility patching and depressions have developed around the patches; and a washboard effect has been created in some sections due to rotting and deterioration of crossies left under the surface when the old electric railway right-of-way was covered. It is feared that to blacktop over these at the present time would result in the tearing up of the surface again in a few years.

Appears For Church

Attorney Fred H. Anderson appeared for the vestry of St. Paul's Lutheran Church to oppose resurfacing of that section from Smallwood to Cumberland which he said is in top shape. There is no need to resurface and it would be a waste of money, he said.

Mr. Nuzum, in explaining the reason for recommendations, cited a survey of 11½ miles of paved streets. In order to protect the city's investment, it was decided to give a seal coat to protect the roadway and seal cracks and Fayette was included. As for excluding one block, he said, one painting a house does not skip some parts because some surfaces are still good. Skipping around would also reflect in the cost, he said.

Mr. Nuzum said he still recommends Fayette Street. The surface has reached a point of deterioration and resurfacing would last at least 20 years. He pointed out that the last improvement was in 1920-40 years ago.

Cites Truck Use

This latter statement was disputed, Mr. Anderson pointing out that the area in front of SS. Peter and Paul had been improved 15 years ago. The city

Parsons Dealer Gets Truck Contract

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (AP)—Lambert Chevrolet Co. of Parsons has been awarded two contracts for trucks for the State Road Commission, the office of Purchasing Director Randall L. Baumgardner said Monday.

The company will furnish 60 dump trucks with a gross vehicle weight of 18,000 pounds each at a unit price of $2,954.78. Six 7,500-pound trucks with stake bodies will cost the SRC $1,930.74 each.

said it would look into this.

Eugene Frey, 715 Fayette, questioned the advisability of resurfacing if heavy trucks and equipment were allowed to continue using the street. He was told by City Attorney William R. Carscaden that it is illegal under a state law for the city to reroute trucks and equipment around Cumberland. However, he said the city could place certain restrictions on street use.

Charles L. Kopp, Braddock Road, said a decision should be based on "actual need" and Rev. John F. Sammel, pastor of St. Paul's Lutheran Church, asked for "proven damages" to the street and declared that in answer to the sealer claim of the city, blacktop is not waterproof.

At the conclusion, Mr. Nuzum said he felt the situation from Smallwood to Cumberland Street should get further study, but that he did not feel the crossies below the surface created any problem. He said the resurfacing would give a project that will last many years.

The Fayette Street improvement covers 6,170 feet and is estimated to cost $39,486.

Slayer Waives Court Hearing

HUNTINGTON, W. Va. (UPI)—Henry Clay Warth, 29, charged with murder in the slaying of two Huntington babysitters Friday night, Monday waived to the June term of the Cabell County grand jury.

Warth waived preliminary hearing before Justice of the Peace Harry Day. He was not represented by counsel, explaining "I can't afford a lawyer."

Warth is accused of the murder of Penny Qualls, 13, and her cousin Linda, 12. Police say he has confessed.

New Voices In An Old Debate

The new disarmament discussions opening in Geneva today go back immediately to an agreement reached last August at a conference of the Big Four foreign ministers. In a larger sense they go back about 13 years, for that's how long the East-West disarmament debate has been in process. It was in February 1947 that the problem of controlling and limiting non-atomic arms was first assigned to a United Nations Commission for Conventional Weapons. Except for occasional bursts of speech — such as the abortive "surprise attack" talks in Geneva in November 1958 — the discussions of general disarmament have been in suspense since the collapse of five-way conversations in London almost three years ago. But the foreign ministers last year agreed that it would be wise to resume the debate — outside the United Nations and with an expanded roster.

The West will be represented by the United States, Britain, France, and Canada, as before, plus Italy. The position of the East — it's bound to be monolithic — will be voiced by the USSR, as originally, plus Bulgaria, Czechoslovakia, Poland, and Rumania. Expansion of the roster represents a considerable success for the Soviet Union; this is the first time the Communists have achieved parity in this sort of negotiation.

Little progress on disarmament is expected before the Big Four summit meeting in mid-May, although both sides have given some signs of greater flexibility. The Western powers have indicated a willingness to discuss general political questions along with pure disarmament, a concession the Communists have sought for a long time. And for the record at least, there's Khrushchev's dramatic call for complete disarmament in his U.N. appearance last September.

But if the past can be taken as prophet, any substantial disarmament is still a long, long way off. The concrete achievements since World War II, aside from the progress at the Geneva conference on an atom test ban, could be stuffed in a peapod without squeezing.

The Primaries

The Presidential Primaries in New Hampshire and Wisconsin, and, for that matter, in other states prove very little more than that a particular candidate is popular in that state. It does not establish that the candidates who win will be nominated by the conventions of their parties.

However, such primaries, wasteful and purposeless as they are, do establish a straw in the wind. In New Hampshire, there could be no doubt but that Nixon would win, as there was no competitor. Nevertheless, there is always the other side of the coin: As there is only one candidate, why did so many come out to vote in blistering weather? The only answer could be that the Republicans of that state wished to pay Nixon a compliment.

As for Senator John Kennedy, the New Hampshire Primary serves him well as a public relations promotion. In the historic memory of the American people, the phrase is "As Maine goes so goes the country." It was a symbol. So is the New Hampshire Primary a symbol, even if only because it is the first primary. It is the sign that spring is not far behind.

There are other factors in this situation that are important to note. New England is not what it used to be. No longer is it peopled by Mayflower descendants or even the descendants of those who came on the second ship after the Mayflower. The population shift, ethnologically and religiously, has been enormous. Puritans and Pilgrims have given way to French Canadians, Italians, Poles, Syrians, Portuguese, Jews, and other races of man. Rhode Island, where once Vanderbilts spoke only to Goetzels, has an Italo-American as its United States Senator; Connecticut has a Jewish Governor; the Governor of Massachusetts is of Italian-Irish descent; Maine has a United States Senator of Polish descent.

John Kennedy, United States Senator from Massachusetts, successor to such a one as Henry Cabot Lodge, the elder, is, of course, Irish on all sides and he looks it. The Irish, for some reason or other, often appear to be younger than their years.

John's father, Joe, is no spring chicken, being 71 if he is a day, but as one looks at him, he is still a young man, having the time of his life. John, who aims to be President, is 42, going on 43, which is just about like Theodore Roosevelt was when he became President by the accident of an assassination.

The New Hampshire Primary does show one thing, which may be only local but could be interpreted as national. It is that more people are interested in this election than had been anticipated even by professional politicians of long experience. This means that Vice President Nixon must go to work if he wants to be elected. It also means that the polls will not be much of a guide, as the doubtful vote increases when the total vote is larger.

Nixon's problem is that he is a prisoner of Eisenhower policies, but Eisenhower policies shift. Since John Foster Dulles died, the Eisenhower foreign policy has taken on a weaker connotation. Whether Dulles was right or wrong, he was, to a degree, predictable; nobody can predict where Eisenhower will go or what he will say. Much of it seems improvisation, although it may not be.

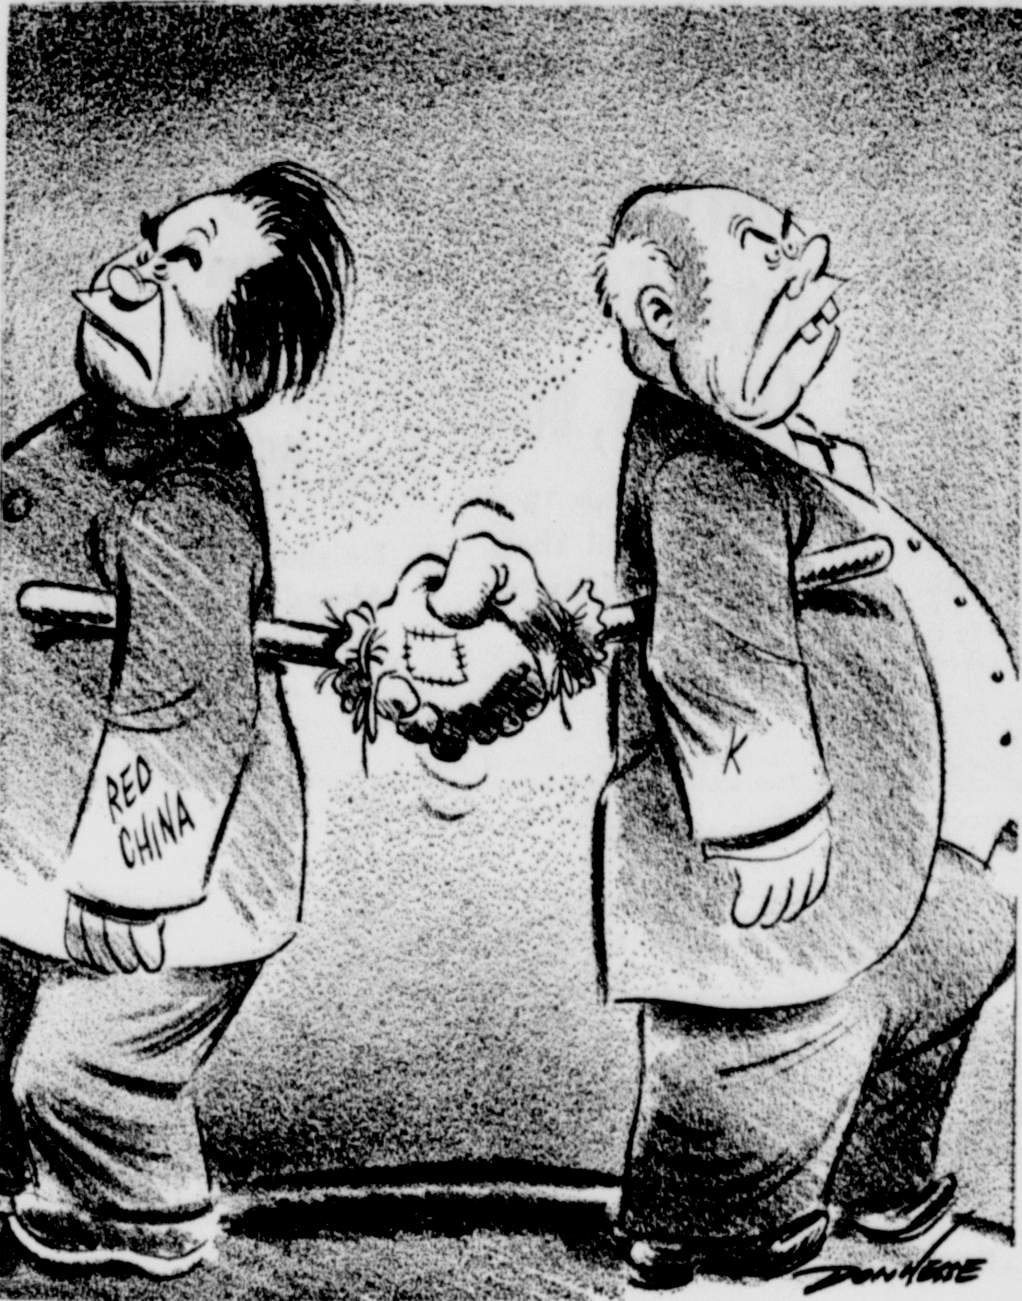

The Republican slogan for 1960 was going to be "Peace and Prosperity." Certainly, Nixon will not be able to employ this slogan, not because peace is evil but because it is taking on the appearance of cowardice. Before next Summer is over, the Summit meeting is likely either to exhibit such weaknesses on the American side as to be disgusting or de Gaulle will assert a leadership which will set Eisenhower aside. In either case, it will make it very difficult for Nixon to speak out.

Nixon first established his reputation as an anti-Communist. He, it was, who found the "Pumpkin Papers" that convicted Alger Hiss. He, it was, who defeated Helen Gahagan Douglas in a violent anti-Communist campaign. He, it was, who helped Joe McCarthy in the first stages of the McCarthy investigations. He went to Soviet Russia and publicly stood up for our way of life against Khrushchev.

If Nixon were presently to pose as a middle-of-the-road liberal, such campaigners as John Kennedy and Hubert Humphrey would chew him to pieces.

Presidential Primaries And What They Mean

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON — Some of the politicians may scoff at Presidential primaries and pooh-pooh them, but somehow both Senator Kennedy and Vice President Nixon are better off from a publicity standpoint than they would have been if they hadn't entered the New Hampshire primaries.

For a sizable segment of the electorate — not a mere handful, such as are canvassed in public-opinion polls — actually expressed themselves by their votes. Vice President Nixon polled more votes than did President Eisenhower in the New Hampshire primary four years ago. Senator Kennedy got a larger vote than the two Democratic aspirants together did in 1956.

The publicity given by the New Hampshire primaries to the two candidates — Nixon and Kennedy — was priceless. Mr. Nixon didn't campaign personally, so his big vote is especially impressive. Mr. Kennedy did campaign personally, and piled up a vote far larger than that of any other Democratic aspirant to the Presidency in the New Hampshire primaries of past years.

Democratic leaders throughout the country are examining the results. They see Mr. Kennedy as a good vote-getter. They see Mr. Nixon as a man who can't be written off as readily today as was attempted a few months ago.

Some important conclusions can be drawn from the New Hampshire primaries. If, in state after state, Senator Kennedy wins the Presidential primaries, will the Democratic National Convention dare to sidetrack him? If it does, the cry will be raised that only because of his religion is he being barred. This viewpoint indeed was frankly and pointedly expressed several months ago in Kennedy circles as something to be borne in mind by the convention delegates. For if there is a resentment developed inside the Democratic Party, it could mean a large stay-at-home vote in November or even considerable support for the Republican ticket as a punitive measure.

Even more important is the "image" of Mr. Kennedy as a Presidential candidate which the newspaper reports of the different primary campaigns will be giving in the next few months. No other candidate will be as much in the public eye, nor will there be any such accumulation of votes throughout the country. Would-be candidates — Senators Lyndon Johnson and Stuart Symington, and Adlai Stevenson — are staying out of the primaries. Senator Hubert Humphrey is courageously battling in some of the primaries, and his best chance is in Wisconsin. But should Mr. Kennedy win there, too, it does look as if there will be no stopping the Massachusetts Senator.

What Vice President Nixon gained by the New Hampshire primary is also being weighed by the politicians, and it is agreed that the old myth created by some Democrats about the Vice President being the "easiest to beat" is wishful thinking. To poll more votes than President Eisenhower did in 1956 and to do so without an active campaign is a political feat of no minor significance.

Mr. Nixon, moreover, was given a good chance to employ some wise tactics. He defended Senator Kennedy publicly against charges made against the latter for allegedly being "soft on Communism." This has the effect of putting a damper on those STUDY GROUPS — Behind the quiet outer facade of the Nixon political operation, a lot of work and research is being conducted to find policies which he can pursue which, while not conflicting with Eisenhower's, will go a step further.

It has become known that the Vice President has at least five study groups in active operation canvassing the entire spectrum of domestic and foreign programs. The present plan is to hold these new policy pronouncements in reserve until after the GOP Convention this summer.

However, if New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller or any other threat should loom on the horizon, Nixon wants to be ready with his own set of policies to beat back the opposition. Incidentally, there appears to be some revival of a Rockefeller drive for the nomination.

In some areas, particularly foreign aid and general foreign poli-icy, there is not much that Nixon can do. He has become identified with these programs and, in fact, is being given credit for formulating a part of them.

Domestic situations are another matter, however. The Nixon imprint was plainly discernible on President Eisenhower's recent farm message to Congress. The Vice President's active role in settling the steel dispute was a master political stroke in his effort to be identified as a friend of labor and aware of their problems.

Perhaps the boldest step Nixon is contemplating is in the area of high finance and economics. Some Nixon intimates insist that he is not wholeheartedly behind the Administration's tight money policy as a means of combatting inflation.

It is known that one of his study groups is trying to find an approach which would ease high interest rates but at least appear to hold the stabilization line.

'Old Hickory' Was 'Toughest' U.S. President

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

Andrew Jackson probably was our toughest President (physically) even though he never was robust and was disease-ridden the last 31 years of his life. He had enough serious wounds and illnesses to kill three ordinary men but managed to reach the top, including two terms in the White House. Jackson was born March 15, 1767, and lived to age 78.

If you think you have troubles, read the life of Jackson. He had three severe wounds and was the victim of smallpox, migraine headaches, tuberculosis, malaria, dysentery, kidney trouble, and dropsy.

As a result of these varied ailments he often was in pain, hemorrhaged frequently from the lungs, had violent coughing spells, and suffered from periodic bouts of diarrhea with chills and fever. He lost his teeth when he was in his fifties and his eyesight from cataracts later in life.

This superman never babied himself. He used both coffee and tobacco to excess and was described in his youth as wild — gambling and drinking with the best of them. He went through several emotional crises that might have unnerved the minds of most men.

Jackson was the first President to follow the "log cabin to White House" tradition and received a crushing blow when his wife died a few months before his inauguration. They had gone through many trying times together, including a scandal. His wife, Rachel, had been married before and had been led to believe that her divorce was final. But the decree was not issued until 3 years after her marriage to Jackson. They were remarried but the slander and malicious gossip finally led to a duel.

Despite Jackson's tough fiber, the last decades of his life were the most hectic. Bouts of dysentery alternated with attacks of heart failure. Bleeding from the lungs was common and left him weak.

He did not leave the White House during his last four months in office and he was free from symptoms only during short intervals. Yet he lived seven years after retirement from office.

TOMORROW: Russian reducing plan.

Navy Band Ordered To Go On Tour Again Today To Prevent 'Leaks'

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON — Though just returned from a tragic air disaster and a long tour through Latin America, the Navy Band is being taken out of Washington today on another tour. Bandsmen say that this is to prevent them from talking to members of Congress or the press.

"We were called in two days after the funeral and at first the drum major (Arlington Zetty) talked a little bit to cool us off for the old man. Then the old man (Commander Charles Brendler) came in and announced: 'We are going on tour. No one else but me ordered it. We are going on tour.'"

Brendler repeated this over and over again — almost as if he had rehearsed his lines.

So the band leaves today for the south and southwest, to travel 5,000 miles in 31 days and play two concerts a day, seven days a week.

However, despite official naval anxiety to suppress the facts, here is a play-by-play account of what happened after the tragic Rio de Janeiro crash.

After the tragedy, Rear Adm. Edward Stephan invited a delegation from the band to meet with him in the ward room of the USS Macon.

"Gentlemen, I am doing a job Commander Brendler should be doing," the admiral began. "This has been a terrible blow to him. We have him under sedation. As distasteful as it is to me, I am going to have to do the job."

Then he asked whether they wanted to continue the tour, reminding them that their mission was "entirely non-vital."

"Admiral," spoke up one lad, "I believe that the show must go on."

"This isn't a carnival or a musical," objected another. "Our place would seem to me to be back home with our own families and with the widows of our friends."

"I don't think we actually have a choice," agreed another. "Some of the widows have children and need help. Even if only eight or ten of us can help, the fact that we are all there will mean so much to them."

Vote To Go Home

Admiral Stephan read a cable from Adm. Arleigh Burke, Chief of Naval Operations, expressing his condolences and recommending that the tour continue. But Stephan went along with the majority's wishes.

"I will wire Arleigh Burke that your decision is that you wish to come home immediately," he promised.

Then Commander Brendler, apparently recovering from the sedatives, wandered in.

"Well, Charlie," greeted the admiral, "do you think you can do the concert Saturday night in Buenos Aires?"

"Admiral, I could do a Pagliacci," replied Brendler. "I could stand up there with tears streaming down my face. But I don't think the men could do it."

By next morning, however, Brendler had changed his tune. He called the band together.

"We shouldn't put our tail between our legs and go home," he urged.

But without a dissenting voice, the band members spoke against continuing the tour. They would be unable to play, they protested, with 19 empty chairs to remind them of their lost comrades. After considerable discussion, however, they decided it might help to get over the hurdle of the first concert and agreed to keep the Buenos Aires engagement.

Brendler ordered a rehearsal on the ship's fantail, but the musicians didn't have their heart in it. Brendler cursed out trombonist Larry Wiehe and drummer Kenny Malone for their poor playing, then gave up.

Next day, he called the band together again on the pier.

"We have been ordered to complete the tour," Brendler announced, then added in a tone of finality: "That is that."

This was greeted with such a chorus of protests that he first pleaded: "Look, I'm human too."

Then he faced them sternly.

The Admiral Orders

"If any of you guys have got the nerve to walk up here and look me in the eye and tell me you don't want to go on the tour," he began gruffly.

Before he could finish, almost all the band members started walking up to accept the challenge. They startled leader backed up two steps, then walked away.

Next, Admiral Stephan again met with the band. "I want to talk to you man to man," he explained. Then he appealed to them in the name of patriotism to go on playing for Ike.

"Boys, I want you to know that your playing in South America may stop the Russians from coming with guns," he said solemnly. "We are in a cold war, the most bitter type of war we can be in. Some people like to see a show of might. Some people are impressed by big names, which is why Eisenhower is here. And some people can be reached through culture. That's why you are here. The Russians have shown us the way and we've been slow catching on. But all this is part of the cold war."

"In that case I am a traitor," blurted one bandsman. "I will not go on this tour because of your word play. If I go, I will go under orders."

"The only thing stopping the Russians from coming here with guns," he added, "isn't the Navy Band. It is the Strategic Air Command, and we know that too."

"I had that coming," the Admiral smiled tolerantly. "I recommended that you be sent back, but I have been countermanded by Arleigh Burke. He has countermanded a lot of my orders. But every time, he was right and I was wrong."

The discussion continued for two hours until one boy shouted emotionally: "We have been treated like pigs!"

That broke up the meeting. The next thing the bandsmen knew they were being packed off to Chile.

The Gold Question

By Leslie Gould

There are two schools of thought as to gold. One is that it is THE yardstick for measuring. The other is that it is fine for filling teeth and for jewelry.

There is no question about its services as a filling for teeth. As to its value as a monetary yardstick, there is a question. A real one.

The world monetary gold stocks — leaving out Russia — are about $40½ billion, of which the U. S. has a little less than half. Not so long ago — 10 years — the U. S. had 70 per cent, or $24½ billion.

Monetary gold is supposedly important for balancing payments in international trade. A country can gain or lose gold when other nations find this the only medium for meeting claims. When the currency's soundness is open to question, gold is demanded.

The U. S. is losing gold. This is more than a little ironic since the U. S. bankrolled the rest of the world to prosperity after World War II, including Communist Russia.

The U. S. is losing gold because, unlike the countries it helped, it has yet to get its budget balanced and reduce spending abroad. It has also failed to shift some of this aid burden to other, just as prosperous, countries.

American exports, which as recently as 10 years ago exceeded imports of $5.3 billion, now are running a surplus of less than $2 billion. This "surplus" isn't enough to make up the difference in the foreign economic and military aid, the investment in foreign plants and tourism. The result is a whopping American deficit in the international balance of payments.

Foreign nations have been building up their dollar holdings as well as taking gold. The situation has reached a point where the American gold stocks can no longer cover the legal requirements of the Federal Reserve System and at the same time meet a withdrawal of the foreign short term balances here.

The short term balances — which are around $17 billion — can largely be converted into gold. The Federal Reserve requirements for a 25 per cent gold coverage of the system's banknote and deposit liabilities is about $12 billion. And the U. S. has only $19½ billion to meet these combined claims of roughly $29 billion.

This is only because the U. S. holds to an outmoded gold standard yardstick. The Treasury by law is committed to paying $35 an ounce for gold, and most of its holdings is buried at Fort Knox — earning nothing. It is a ridiculous form of hoarding — like the farmer's wife putting egg money in the mattress, or the sugar bowl.

The U. S. Treasury maintains a fiction of its currency being on a gold standard.

Then, there is the $32½ billion in currency in circulation, against $8 billion prewar. Only foreigners, including Russians, can convert these dollars into gold — not Americans.

Deposits in all American banks — 60 per cent of this check money — the modern currency — is around $243 billion. Twenty years ago this was only $60 billion.

Against the above is $19½ billion in gold, which is $10½ billion short of foreign claims and Federal Reserve currency backing claims. Twenty years ago the U. S. gold stocks were $21 billion.

To recapitulate, there is: $12 billion needed for Federal Reserve requirements.

$17 billion in foreign short term credit balances.

$32½ billion currency in circulation.

$243 billion in bank deposits. Leaving out the $12 billion needed for Federal Reserve requirements, since this partly covers Reserve banknotes, the total is $292½ billion against 19½ billion in gold.

Twenty years ago, the picture was as follows: $68 billion in bank deposits and currency in circulation against $21 billion in gold stocks. Foreign short term claims were virtually nil.

The U. S. Treasury maintains a $35 an ounce gold buying price for the metal. All this does is put a floor under the world price, benefiting the Russians and South Africans — the only two major gold producers.

The Russians are the world's largest gold producers, passing South Africa. Russia also has between $8 and $10 billion in gold, which it uses to finance its trade and its world wide espionage and subversion.

As long as the U. S. holds to the $35 an ounce price, the Russians do not have to worry about a free market reacting to the law of supply and demand. If, instead of a fixed buying price, there were a free market for gold, any large sales by the Russians would depress the price.

They would find it a little more difficult to buy Fidel Castro's sugar or finance trade and espionage in Latin America.

For the U. S. a free gold market where Americans could buy the metal would serve as a check on free spending politicians. If Americans were concerned about the dollar, they could sell dollars and buy gold.

Hyndman Advances To Pennsy Class C Regional Finals

John Keller's Quint Defeats Juniata, 49-45

Scores Win No. 12, Waltman, Lehman Garner 39 Points

Hyndman High School advanced to the final round of the Pennsylvania western regional Class C basketball tournament by disposing of Juniata Valley Joint High School's floormen last night at Bedford High School by the score of 49-45.

Coach John S. Keller's Hornets won the District 5 Class C title last week by beating Southern Fulton High School of Warfordsburg by the score of 83-38. Juniata Valley of near Huntingdon, won the championship of District 6.

Last night's victory was the 12th against 11 defeats for the Bedford countians in a game highlighted by the shooting of John Keller and Royce Waltman and the tremendous floor game of the latter. Keller slammed in 20 points on seven fielders and 6-8 fouls while Waltman connected on seven shots from the field and hooped six of eight free throws.

Center Lankard was the "whole show" for Juniata Valley with 24 of his team's 45 tallies. He scored eight goals and sank 8 of 11 shots from the charity line.

Hyndman led at the Bedford, 8-7, 19-17 and 36-33. The quarter-countians held a lead of two points, 47-45, with only 30 seconds left to play when Shaffer was fouled and Bernie stepped up to the free throw line and sank both shots before the final whistle.

Each team scored 16 goals but Hyndman held a 17-13 edge in points made at the foul line.

Hyndman's opponent in the western regional final is unknown at this time.

Ecklund Named Aide At Dallas

DALLAS, Tex. (UPI) — Brad Ecklund, former all-pro center with the Baltimore Colts and for the past two seasons line coach at his Oregon alma mater, Monday was named assistant coach of the Dallas Rangers of the National Football League.

The 36-year-old Ecklund became the first aide to be signed by head Coach Tom Landry, since he left the New York Giants to take over the NFL's newest entry.

Ecklund played with Landry in 1949 with the New York Yankees, was a member of the ill-fated Dallas team in the NFL and then moved to Baltimore with that club when the Texas entry folded in mid-season.

The major league record for one-run victories in a single season is 41 set by the Cincinnati Reds in 1941.

LED CYO LOOP — Michael Kelly, of SS. Peter & Paul quint, topped the scores of the Catholic Youth League this season with a total of 281 points in 20 games for high average of 14.1. Kelly also was the loop's top foul shooter with an average of .527 for 49 conversions in 93 attempts.

Warriors Put Out Syracuse

Wilt Gets Record 53 In 132-112 Victory

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — Powered by a record-breaking 33-point performance by rookie Wilt Chamberlain, the Philadelphia Warriors crushed the Syracuse Nationals, 132-112, before 9,428 fans at Convention Hall Monday night to move into the finals of the National Basketball Association's Eastern Division playoffs.

Chamberlain's total bettered the previous one-game playoff mark of 50 points co-owned by Boston's Bob Cousy and St. Louis' Bob Pettit.

The victory gave the Warriors the best of three series by a 2-1 edge and sent Philadelphia into the Eastern finals against Boston. That series will open in Boston Wednesday night.

Chamberlain, enjoying one of his best shooting nights of the season, hit on 24 of 42 field goal tries and added five fouls for his record-breaking total. Most of the giant center's baskets came on fall-away jump shots or off the pivot.

Schayes, who scored 20 of his 31 points in the first half to keep Syracuse in contention for a while, became the greatest play-off scorer in NBA history. He now has 1700 points in 12 series and 85 games.

West Gets Berth On All-America

NEW YORK (UPI) — Oscar Robertson of Cincinnati, Jerry West of West Virginia, Jerry Lucas of Ohio State, Darrell Imhoff of California and Tom Stith of St. Bonaventure headed the 10-man All-America team selected Monday by the United States Basketball Writers Assn.

Roger Kaiser of Georgia Tech, Len Wilkens of Providence, Lee Shaffer of North Carolina, Walt Bellamy of Indiana and Terry Disinger of Purdue rounded out the group.

The mythical squad was announced in the new issue of Look Magazine.

Matthews Favored To Win Over Godih

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — Len Matthews is a 9-5 choice to whip Lahourari Godih, former French lightweight champion from Algeria, in their 10-round return bout Tuesday night.

Matthews, ranked fourth among world lightweights, won a split decision in their televised bout Feb. 19, largely because he floored the Algerian in the seventh round. Tuesday night's return go won't be televised.

Matthews has a 23-3-1 record while the more experienced Godih has a 32-9-1 record. Matthews is 20, 10 years younger than the Algerian.

Sugar Bowl Grid Game Set Jan. 2

NEW ORLEANS (UPI) — The Mid-Winter Sports Association announced Monday the Sugar Bowl football classic will be held Jan. 2 instead of its usual New Year's Day date.

New Year's falls on a Sunday in 1961.

The Sugar Bowl basketball tournament was slated for Dec. 29-30. Defending champion Western Kentucky, West Virginia, Memphis State and Tulane will compete for the title.

Michael Kelly Leads Catholic League Scorers

Makes 281 Points, Tops Foul Shooters

Scoring 116 field goals and converting 49 out of 93 free throws for a total of 281 points, Michael Kelly, of SS. Peter & Paul, topped the scoring title for the 1959-60 season in the Catholic Youth Basketball League.

Kelly collected more field goals than any other player, was the league's high average player with 14.1 points a game and romped off with the foul shooting title by posting a .527 average.

Delaney Is Runner-up

Runner-up to Kelly in scoring was Dick Delaney, of St. Michael's of Frostburg, who registered 223 points in 18 games. His average of 12.4 also gained him runner-up honors in that department.

Bobby Neubeiser, of St. Patrick's, and son of Joe Neubeiser, LaSalle High's great guard of the late 1920s, finished in third place with 221 points and an average of 11.1.

Billy Lueck of St. Mary's Gaels finished fourth with 209 tallies and an average of 11.6 and Mike Madden of SS. Peter & Paul was fifth with 197 markers.

Scaletta's 508 Second

Runner-up to Mike Kelly in foul shooting was Toby Scaletta (.51-61) of St. Patrick's with an average of .508. R. Shaffer, Mt. Savage had a .515 average for players with less than 50 chances.

Mike Kelly, Neubeiser and Delaney scored 25 points each to tie for total points in a single game. St. Patrick's won both halves of the split season schedule with 9-1 and 10-0 records.

Ninety-one players figured in the 57 games played during the season.

Deadline For YMCA Tourney Entries Thursday At 5:30

Deadline for entries in the 15th annual YMCA-Jaycee Gold Medal basketball tournament has been extended until 5:30 p. m. Thursday, March 17, according to B. U. Smith, general secretary at Central YMCA.

Originally, the deadline was announced as Wednesday. Smith said the extension is primarily for the benefit of out-of-town entries. The tournament is scheduled to start March 21 and continue until March 31.

Teams will compete in four classes — 115 pound, 135 pound, junior unlimited and senior unlimited.

Last year's winners were: 115 — St. Michael's 135 — Lovers Leap, Jr. Unlimited — Scaletta's Five, Senior Unlimited — Old Germans.

Olson Suspended

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — The California Athletic Commission Monday announced suspension of former middleweight champ Carl (Bobo) Olson for failing to appear for a scheduled fight in San Francisco last month.

Olson had signed to fight Spider Webb Feb. 26, but backed out a week before the bout.

The suspension was retroactive to Feb. 26 and will hold until he appears before the commission for a hearing. No hearing has been scheduled.

Fearer Memorial League Playoff Final Is Today

Unbeaten St. Michael's Catholic quint, (17-0) winner of the regular season title, will try to add the playoff crown to its trophy chest when it faces Salem Reformed tonight in the final game of the season in the Fearer Memorial Basketball League at Beall High School.

Salem and St. Michael's are slated to clash in the second game of a doubleheader at 8 o'clock.

At 7 p. m. Dickerson and Wesley will play Calvary Baptist in the consolation final.

Team and individual trophies will be presented at the conclusion of the second game.

YMCA League Race Ends In Three-Way Tie

Globes Are Halted By Ridgeley, 43-35

Ridgeley stopped the 11-game winning streak of the Cumberland Globes, 43-35, and Old Furnace topped St. Paul's, 128-127, last night as the YMCA Senior Men's Basketball race ended in a triple tie.

The Globes, Ridgeley and Old Furnace ended the regular season with 11-1 records.

In other games Ridgeley last night at the "Y" St. John's topped St. Luke's, 44-33, and the Y.M.C.A. turned back Kingsley Methodist, 62-37.

Old Germans Grab Series Opener, 60-49

Victors Sink 18 Of 33 Foul Shots To Whip Exports

Rallying for 20 points in the final period while holding the opposition to eight, the Old Germans drew first blood in the series for the championship of the City Basketball League by beating Old Exports last night at Allegany High School by the score of 60-49.

The second game of the best-of-three series will be staged Wednesday at 8 p. m., at Allegany.

A field goal and foul by Gary Smith tied the score for the last time at 37-37 in the third period and a basket by Kenny Johnson put Old Exports in front at 39-37 with 35 seconds remaining.

At the beginning of the fourth quarter with the score 41-40 in favor of the Exports, Eddie Orndorff scored three straight points on a field goal and foul shot to put the Old Germans ahead (43-41) and they never gave up the lead again.

Don Moran, the league's leading scorer, who had missed three previous games due to injuries, entered the game in the last quarter to help the Old Germans control the ball.

Outscored from the field, 22 to 21 in goals, the Old Germans won the game at the foul line where they sank 18 of 33 shots. The Exports had only seven chances at the charity line and converted five. Gary Smith of the Exports was the only player to exit on fouls.

Four Old Germans scored in double figures, Joe Taylor heading the scoring procession with 17 tallies while Orndorff had 12 and Glen Smith and Phil Smith 10 markers each. Ronnie Bruce paced the losers with 14 tallies.

The Old Germans won the first half while Old Export copped second half honors after a tie necessitated the playing of an extra game.

Racing Nets Maryland Record $9,807,635 In Revenue

State Gets Over Million In Breakage

● Livie Cites Half Miler Slump Due To Charles Town

BALTIMORE (AP) — Racing revenue in Maryland last year reached a record total of $9,807,635, the State Racing Commission said today.

Last year's revenue easily topped the previous high of $9,257,809 set in 1958. The increase was attributed partly to seven additional days of racing last year, or 126 compared to 119 in 1958.

A major factor in the increase was an addition of a ninth race on daily racing cards at most tracks.

The extra racing days were scheduled to make up programs lost because of snow storms early in 1958.

As usual, the mile tracks contributed the largest amount to the State treasury. Revenue from Bowie, Laurel and Pimlico totaled $7,400,640, including the $1,000 daily license fee.

The half-milers contributed $887,487, harness tracks $1,206,831 and two-day hunt meet at Fair Hill $4,803.

Get $1,147,954 Breakage

The State's share of breakage from the mutual payoffs totaled $1,147,954. Breakage is the accumulation of pennies left over in the computation of a payoff price.

Betting tickets in Maryland are cashed in 20-cent intervals for each $2 wagered and the pennies between each interval constitute the breakage.

The thoroughbred tracks and State divide the breakage on a 50-50 basis while all the breakage at harness tracks, except Ocean Downs, goes to the State. The General Assembly authorized Ocean Downs to keep all its breakage.

$150,902 To Treasury

Some bettors last year failed to cash $150,902 in winning bets, and all of this went to the State.

The State also received revenue from individual licenses totaling $48,777 and taxes on badges and admissions amounting to $108,192.

The drop in revenue from the half-milers — Hagerstown, Cumberland, Bel Air, Timonium and Marlboro — was somewhat surprising in view of a $300,000 increase in wagering during Cumberland's 12 day meet.

The Cumberland program was held at Hagerstown, but still drew more bets than when presented on the home grounds in 1958.

Competition Hurts

In a letter to Gov. Tawes, State Racing Chairman R. Bruce Livie explained that "one of the main reasons for the decrease in betting at the half-mile tracks, in the commission's opinion, was competition during the entire half-mile season with Charles Town."

"It was an impossibility," Livie added, "to get horses to leave Charles Town and come to Maryland to race."

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is another in a series on the major league teams.

By WALTER L. JOHNS
Central Press Sports Editor

SARASOTA, Fla. — Given the Bum's rush last October in Chicago and Los Angeles, the Chicago White Sox were given a royal treatment here this year as they took over the vacated training grounds long held by the Red Sox.

It was befitting the A.L. champion, perhaps, and in addition to a Chamber of Commerce promotion, the Sox found an improved ball park, a new clubhouse on which the paint still is to come on the inside, and nice lodgings within a walking distance of Payne Field.

The Team To Beat

Like the improved set-up for training, the Sox also did a lot of improving over the winter and go into the 1960 campaign the team to beat.

The good senior who manages the White Sox, Al Lopez, whose home is 55 miles to the north of here, will tell you that the Sox must be rated even stronger than last year, although he lists Cleveland, Detroit and New York as the contenders, with a special accent on Detroit being "the sleeper."

"We're stronger than we were," says Al. "We added power that we needed and left-handed pitching. Our bullpen was real good last year and it will be again this year. I expect both Billy Pierce and Dick Donovan to come back. Bob Shaw should be even better and I say that Don Ferrarese and Frank Bauman could be good pitchers for us.

Calls Wynn Amazing

"Early Wynn is an amazing guy. Who would have thought he could win 22 at 40 years of age? And there's no reason to believe he can't be as good this year. He keeps himself in shape and knows how to pitch.

"Yes, I know that some are saying that we have an old club. However, I say we're as young as we could be where we want to be. I think that the win last year added confidence to this ball club. The team certainly looks confident to me."

The White Sox had just about everything but power last year and the addition of Gene Freese, who hit 23 homers for the Phillies, and Minnie Minoso, a .300 hitter, from the Indians, should provide it.

Ted Down To 244

Ted Kluszewski, the big ex-Cincinnati man who was a star in the Series last autumn, is down to 244 pounds and ready to go again. "Klu will be my first baseman and hit fourth," says Lopez, "until he shows otherwise. Klu says he can play 125 games."

If Pierce and Donovan can come back, the White Sox pitching, speed and the added power would be tough to topple. Pierce pulled something in his hip last year and as a result he favored his leg and his pitching wasn't good. Donovan, explains Lopez, "doesn't think he can win the first half of the season but I can't go for that."

The White Sox lineup will be about the same with the exception of Freese and Minoso. Minnie will play left with Al Smith shifted to right.

Several promising newcomers are being looked at, but few will stay. Two who are highly-ranked are J. C. Martin, a first baseman, who hit .287 at Indianapolis, and Joe Hicks, an outfielder who batted .314 for Indianapolis and .429 for the White Sox in six games near the end of the 1959 season.

Another, not a newcomer, is Mike Garcia, the former Big Bear of the Cleveland staff. Mike, despite a finger injury during the winter, says he can pitch and hopes to help this club.

County Commissioner Told By Grand Jury To Apologize

HAGERSTOWN (AP) — The Washington County grand jury Monday called on a county commissioner to make a public apology to law enforcement agencies he accused of laxness and corruption.

The jurors said there was no evidence of laxness, corruption or malfeasance in any law enforcement agency in Hagerstown. Commissioner John H. Easterday said at a public meeting in Hancock on Feb. 4 that "some law enforcement is crooked and corrupted in the county."

Easterday said many women escape arrests by suggestive and provocative means. His statement caused some of the women at the meeting to leave.

Later, a group of leading Hancock citizens, including the mayor, sent a protest to the Board of Commissioners.

Sheriff Charles E. Price charged Easterday to say whom he had in mind in making his charges. Easterday stood his ground, saying the people at the Hancock meeting would be his jury. "What I said I'll stick to regardless," he said.

The Grand Jury was asked by Circuit Judge D. K. McLaughlin to investigate the charges made by Easterday.

In its report, the jury said in view of Easterday's refusal to clarify his charges and in view of subsequent publicity the jury "feels compelled to advise the public it (the charge) was unsupported by fact" and that the main concern of Easterday in respect to law enforcement is "what he believes to be a laxness in enforcing the law in regard to pin ball machines."

The jury report said Easterday appeared to be concerned about the relation between pin ball machines and juvenile delinquency in the county.

The report said all public officers should avoid "scurrilous attacks" and should be "held accountable to the public for such statements to the extent that they willingly support with facts their remarks when called upon to do so."

FROSTBURG — "Spy Warfare Today" will be the subject of a lecture by Dan T. Moore, Counter-Intelligence officer, in Compton Hall auditorium, Wednesday at 8:15 p. m.

Moore headed the counter-intelligence operations in the Middle East and traveled the countries and islands of this area in search of enemy agents. He tells of manhunts and of Allied and Russian spy warfare and its importance in today's tense situation. In 1944 he headed a mission to King Ibn Saud of Saudi Arabia.

During World War II, Moore served as executive assistant to the chief of X-2 Counter-Intelligence in Washington, and later as chief liaison officer between X-2, OSS, FBI and the State Department.

In his lectures, Moore describes the British defeat at Suez; the fall of Premier Mossadeq in Iran; the fall of King Farouk and the revolutions in Egypt; the emergence of Turkey as a strong modern state; the spread of Communism in the Middle East; the present position of Israel; France's rejection of EDC; and the revolt of France's North African colonies.

Sewing Club Is Reactivated

LONAICONING — St. Peter's Episcopal Church has their sewing club reactivated. Wednesday morning after the 9:30 service of Holy Communion, the sewing group will meet in the Parish House. Cotton rag rugs will be started as part of their sewing projects which will be sold.

Rev. Walthall of St. Matthew's, Oakland, will be guest preacher on Wednesday, March 16, and Rev. Donald Libby, will be guest on April 6, at the Lenten service at the Lonaconing Episcopal Church.

Ladies Aid Meets

FROSTBURG—The Ladies Aid of Zion Lutheran Church will meet Wednesday at 8 p. m. at the church with Mrs. Nancy Dugan presiding. Mrs. Goldie Skidmore will be in charge of devotions. Mrs. Stella Taylor will be hostess.

LANE TO SPEAK

JACKSON'S MILL, W. Va. (UPI) — Principal speaker at the annual meeting of the West Virginia Christmas Tree Growers Assn. March 19-20 will be State Conservation Director Warden M. Lane.

Judge Orders Apology For Two Children

ROMNEY — Judge H. Gus Munzing ordered James Shanholtz, 48, of Pleasant Dale, to publicly apologize to his two minor daughters in Hampshire County Circuit Court for forcing them to sell liquor to customers who came to the Shanholtz home.

The apology was made in open court and the two children were then placed in custody of the Hampshire County Welfare Department.

In addition, Shanholtz was sentenced to eight months in jail but the sentence was suspended and he was placed on probation for two years.

Judge Munzing also ordered the man to spend four Saturday nights in the county jail in Romney. He will enter the jail at 6 p. m. each Saturday and be released at 7 a. m. the next day. He spent his first Saturday night in jail this past weekend.

A requirement of the probation is that Shanholtz refrain from drinking, selling or drinking any alcoholic beverages during the probation period of two years.

Jobless Survey Shows 3,293 In Labor Pool

PETERSBURG, W. Va. — Through a spontaneous united effort, an industrial labor survey for prospective industry was quickly and successfully completed recently by the Petersburg Industrial Development Corp. and local citizens of the community.

The survey uncovered a total of 3,293 persons available for employment. This number included 1,664 men and 1,629 women. These persons reside in Grant County and neighboring areas of Hardy and Pendleton counties.

All civic, fraternal, and service organizations in the area helped in the door-to-door canvass, filled out survey blanks, and even set up card tables in the streets to assure complete coverage. Survey teams were appointed based on voting precincts throughout the three counties.

According to a report in the current issue of the Potomac Edison System's bulletin on area development, this information and other data pertaining to this community and local areas is being sent to industrial prospects by the Development Corporation.

The Bulletin also reports that Wardensville, W. Va., which has a population of 171 has successfully located a new plant with an ultimate employment of 200. The firm, Wardensville Manufacturing Company makes clothes for infants, and was secured for the town through the efforts of the Industrial Committee of the Wardensville Lions Club and other interested citizens.

Finer Grades Lightweight Papers Ready

Luke Mill Stays In Mass Market

LUKE — Research which has developed a new concept in lightweight publication papers will put West Virginia Pulp and Paper Company back in the mass circulation magazine market, David L. Luke, president of the paper company, revealed in Boston in a speech before Boston Security Analysts.

Luke said part of a $50 million investment in new papermaking facilities at the company's Luke Mill is designed to produce a new type lightweight publication paper, made of chemical hardwood pulp, which will be competitive with groundwood paper now being used by magazines for economic reasons.

The Luke mill currently has the capacity to produce 500 tons a day. Two big new paper machines being installed at the Luke location as part of the expansion program, are expected to double the capacity of the mill. The first of the two machines is scheduled to start this summer and the second in 1961.

To overcome economic disadvantages encountered in manufacturing lightweight publication papers from high-cost chemical pulps, West Virginia over the past three years successfully shifted more than 100,000 tons of business from the publication field to commercial printing and converting, where heavier grades of paper are used.

Before the shift, West Virginia was one of the major producers of publication papers in this country. The Luke Mill expansion is based on a desire to improve the company's position throughout the printing field, including commercial printing, Luke said.

Although he did not provide details, Luke said that the new chemical hardwood pulp developed by the company would provide opacity equal to that of groundwood and that it would be even lower in cost than the qualities of groundwood pulp currently used in book papers.

He said a new bright white filler developed by the company would be used and that new papermaking techniques would be employed in the manufacture of the paper.

"Ten years ago about two-thirds of our cultural paper output was sold in trainload lots to publishers of mass circulation national magazines," Luke said. "This was a desirable type of business from the standpoint of stability, but it had become much less so from the standpoint of profits."

He explained that magazine publishers, plagued by rising postal rates and the loss of advertising revenue to radio and television, had been forced to reduce the weight, quality and cost of the papers they ordered.

"Our full chemical pulps, which are stronger and otherwise superior to groundwood pulps for the heavier and higher qualities of advantage when used for lightweight publication paper because they required costly additives to insure necessary opacity," Luke explained.

"Our pulps, skills and facilities were capable of producing the highest qualities of fine papers," he continued, "but when we used them for making the lower quality papers acceptable for the mass circulation magazines, we could not be adequately compensated for them."

As an example of the economics of the market, he noted that to a publisher who uses 500,000 tons of paper a year, a difference of only 1/4 cent per pound, or $5 a ton, means $2 1/2 million a year. On the other hand, a corporation or printer ordering a carload of quality paper—say 25 tons—for a beautiful brochure or annual report, a difference of even $40 a ton means only $1,000 in the cost of the final product—or perhaps no added cost at all because of trouble-free printing and faithful reproduction on superior paper.

Although West Virginia systematically withdrew 100,000 tons from the mass publication market, the company deliberately retained a considerable volume of national publication business, Luke disclosed.

"We naturally wanted to retain the higher quality and heavier basis weight publications, as well as the cover business of various mass circulation magazines, since the adverse economic factors did not apply to these grades."

"We also retained some lightweight magazine business for the express purpose of exerting continuing pressure on our research and technical staffs to solve the problem of profitably producing lightweight papers from full chemical pulp."

West Virginia currently produces about 200,000 tons of printing and publication paper annually at its Luke, Mechanicville, N. Y., Tyrone and Williamsburg, Pa., mills.

AUTHOR TO SPEAK

HUNTINGTON, W. Va. (UPI) — The author of a controversial article on West Virginia is scheduled to speak at a meeting of the Huntington Advertising Club Tuesday. He is Raul Tunley, who wrote a Sunday Evening Post article describing West Virginia as a dying state.

Participate In Press Convention

Miss Virginia Clise and Miss Roberta Love of the staff of "The Shield," Valley High School's newspaper, will take an active part in the program of the Columbia Scholastic Press Association convention in New York this week. They are part of a delegation from Valley and other schools of this area, planning to attend the conclave.

Valley High Sending Six Delegates To Press Meet

LONAICONING—Virginia Clise, editor, Roberta Love and Rita Hartman, page editors: Caroline Hadley, Carole High and James Broadwater, of "The Shield," Valley high school's newspaper staff, will leave tomorrow at 6 p. m. by chartered bus from Frostburg for the Columbia Scholastic Press Association convention in New York City on March 17, 18 and 19. Miss Peggy Sterbutzel, faculty advisor, will accompany the delegation and stay at the Hotel Taft for the convention weekend.

The group will attend a performance of the Rogers and Hammerstein musical Broadway show, "The Flower Drum Song" on Wednesday evening.

Convention sessions on Thursday, a tour of the New York Times building, television shows; Friday evening will comprise a Radio City performance of the Rockettes, precision dance group, and the famed console organ, as well as a cinema feature.

A dinner at the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel on Saturday, as well as a visit to the United Nations building and the Empire State building, will highlight the day's program.

The Valley delegates will return home on Sunday. Virginia Clise will introduce Charles W. Hunsicker, speaker on "The Future Page — How To Make It Attractive" on March 17 at 2:30 p. m. at Columbia University. She will be leading group questions after the talk and will be submitting a full report to the press association at the close of the meeting.

Roberta Love will lead a round-table discussion on writing feature articles March 18. She will be required to prepare an informal 20-minute talk on the writing of feature articles and to lead group discussions for the remaining period of the session.

Both Valley girls were chosen for participation in the C.S.P.A. convention on the basis of a recommendation by their journalism instructor, Miss Sterbutzel. Their letters of acceptance were from Joseph M. Murphy, director of the association.

The Lonaconing school group will be going to New York with the delegations from Frostburg State Teachers College and Beall High School, Frostburg.

The jurors said there was no evidence of laxness, corruption or malfeasance in any law enforcement agency in Hagerstown.

Commissioner John H. Easterday said at a public meeting in Hancock on Feb. 4 that "some law enforcement is crooked and corrupted in the county."

Easterday said many women escape arrests by suggestive and provocative means. His statement caused some of the women at the meeting to leave.

Later, a group of leading Hancock citizens, including the mayor, sent a protest to the Board of Commissioners.

Sheriff Charles E. Price challenged Easterday to say whom he had in mind in making his charges. Easterday stood his ground, saying the people at the Hancock meeting would be his jury. "What I said I'll stick to regardless," he said.

The Grand Jury was asked by Circuit Judge D. K. McLaughlin to investigate the charges made by Easterday.

In its report, the jury said in view of Easterday's refusal to clarify his charges and in view of subsequent publicity the jury "feels compelled to advise the public (the charge) was unsupported by fact" and that the main concern of Easterday in respect to law enforcement is "what he believes to be a laxness in enforcing the law in regard to pin ball machines."

The jury report said Easterday appeared to be concerned about the relation between pin ball machines and juvenile delinquency in the county.

The report said all public officers should avoid "scurrilous attacks" and should be "held accountable to the public for such statements to the extent that they willingly support with facts their remarks when called upon to do so."

FROSTBURG — "Spy Warfare Today" will be the subject of a lecture by Dan T. Moore, Counter-Intelligence officer, in Compton Hall auditorium, Wednesday at 8:15 p. m.

Moore headed the counter-intelligence operations in the Middle East and traveled the countries and islands of this area in search of enemy agents. He tells of manhunts and of Allied and Russian spy warfare and its importance in today's tense situation. In 1944, he headed a mission to King Ibn Saud of Saudi Arabia.

During World War II, Moore served as executive assistant to the chief of X-2 Counter-Intelligence in Washington, and later as chief liaison officer between X-2, OSS, FBI and the State Department.

In his lectures, Moore describes the British defeat at Suez; the fall of Premier Mossadegh in Iran; the fall of King Farouk and the revolutions in Egypt; the emergence of Turkey as a strong modern state; the spread of Communism in the Middle East; the present position of EDC, and the revolt of France's North African colonies.

Judge Orders Apology For Two Children

ROMNEY — Judge H. Gus Munzing ordered James Shanholtz, 48, of Pleasant Dale, to publicly apologize to his two minor daughters in Hampshire County Circuit Court for forcing them to sell liquor to customers who came to the Shanholtz home.

The apology was made in open court and the two children were then placed in custody of the Hampshire County Welfare Department.

In addition, Shanholtz was sentenced to eight months in jail but the sentence was suspended and he was placed on probation for two years.

Judge Munzing also ordered the man to spend four Saturday nights in the county jail in Romney. He will enter the jail at 6 p. m. each Saturday and be released at 7 a. m. the next day. He spent his first Saturday night in jail this past weekend.

A requirement of the probation is that Shanholtz refrain from handling, selling or drinking any alcoholic beverages during the probation period of two years.

3 Area Men Serve Aboard Saratoga

KEYSER — Three area men have returned to Mayport, Fla., aboard the attack aircraft carrier USS Saratoga after a six-month tour of duty with the US Fleet in the Mediterranean.

They include: Navy Lt. Cdr. Norman R. Kephart, son of Mrs. Ray Kephart of 11 South Church Street, Keyser, and husband of the former Miss Mildred L. Kuntz of Harrisburg, Pa.; Ronald E. Miller, commissarman third class, USN, son of Mrs. Walter E. Iser of Route 3, Keyser, and Robert L. Riden, aviation machinist's mate, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Riden of 88 James Street, Keyser.

The Saratoga, and her 4,100-man crew, was involved in many fleet exercises with the Sixth Fleet and NATO forces, specifically designed for the self-education and perfection of working relations with the U. S. and its allies.

While in the area the carrier visited Italy, France, Turkey, Spain and Greece.

Jobless Survey Shows 3,293 In Labor Pool

PETERSBURG, W. Va. — Through a spontaneous united effort, an industrial labor survey for prospective industry was quickly and successfully completed recently by the Petersburg Industrial Development Corp. and local citizens of the community.

The survey uncovered a total of 3,293 persons available for employment. This number included 1,664 men and 1,629 women. These persons reside in Grant County and neighboring areas of Hardy and Pendleton counties.

All civic, fraternal, and service organizations in the area helped in the door-to-door canvass, filled out survey blanks, and even set up card tables in the streets to assure complete coverage. Survey teams were appointed based on voting precincts throughout the three counties.

According to a report in the current issue of the Potomac Edison System's bulletin on area development, this information and other data pertaining to this community and local areas is being sent to industrial prospects by the Development Corporation.

The Bulletin also reports that Wardensville, W. Va., which has a population of 171 has successfully located a new plant with an ultimate employment of 200. The firm, Wardensville Manufacturing Company makes clothes for infants, and was secured for the town through the efforts of the Industrial Committee of the Wardensville Lions Club and other interested citizens.

Finer Grades Lightweight Papers Ready

Luke Mill Stays In Mass Market

LUKE — Research which has developed a new concept in lightweight publication papers will put West Virginia Pulp and Paper Company back in the mass circulation magazine market, David L. Luke, president of the paper company, revealed in Boston in a speech before Boston Security Analysts.

Luke said part of a $50 million investment in new papermaking facilities at the company's Luke Mill is designed to produce a new type lightweight publication paper, made of chemical hardwood pulp, which will be competitive with groundwood paper now being used by magazines for economic reasons.

The Luke mill currently has the capacity to produce 500 tons a day. Two big new paper machines being installed at the Luke location as part of the expansion program, are expected to double the capacity of the mill. The first of the two machines is scheduled to start this summer and the second in 1961.

To overcome economic disadvantages encountered in manufacturing lightweight publication papers from high-cost chemical pulps, West Virginia over the past three years successfully shifted more than 100,000 tons of business from the publication field to commercial printing and converting, where heavier grades of paper are used.

Before the shift, West Virginia was one of the major producers of publication papers in this country. The Luke Mill expansion is based on a desire to improve the company's position throughout the printing field, including commercial printing, Luke said.

Although he did not provide details, Luke said that the new chemical hardwood pulp developed by the company would provide opacity equal to that of groundwood and that it would be even lower in cost than the qualities of groundwood pulp currently used in book papers.

He said a new bright white filler developed by the company would be used and that new papermaking techniques would be employed in the manufacture of the paper.

"Ten years ago about two-thirds of our cultural paper output was sold in trainload lots to publishers of mass circulation national magazines," Luke said. "This was a desirable type of business from the standpoint of stability, but it had become much less so from the standpoint of profits."

He explained that magazine publishers, plagued by rising postal rates and the loss of advertising revenue to radio and television, had been forced to reduce the weight, quality and cost of the papers they ordered.

"Our full chemical pulps, which are stronger and otherwise superior to groundwood pulps for the heavier and higher qualities of papers, were at an economic disadvantage when used for lightweight publication paper because they required costly additives to insure necessary opacity," Luke explained.

"Our pulps, skills and facilities were capable of producing the highest qualities of fine papers," he continued, "but when we used them for making the lower quality papers acceptable for the mass circulation magazines, we could not be adequately compensated for them."

As an example of the economics of the market, he noted that to a publisher who uses 500,000 tons of paper a year, a difference of only 1/4¢ per pound, or $5 a ton, means $2 1/2 million a year. On the other hand, a corporation or printer ordering a carload of quality paper—say 25 tons—for a beautiful brochure or annual report, a difference of even $40 a ton means only $1,000 in the cost of the final product—or perhaps no added cost at all because of trouble-free printing and faithful reproduction on superior paper.

Although West Virginia systematically withdrew 100,000 tons from the mass publication market, the company deliberately retained a considerable volume of national publication business, Luke disclosed.

"We naturally wanted to retain the higher quality and heavier basis weight publications, as well as the cover business of various mass circulation magazines, since the adverse economic factors did not apply to these grades."

"We also retained some lightweight magazine business for the express purpose of exerting continuing pressure on our research and technical staffs to solve the problem of profitably producing lightweight papers from full chemical pulp."

West Virginia currently produces about 200,000 tons of printing and publication paper annually at its Luke, Meachamville, N. Y., Tyrone and Williamsburg, Pa., mills.

Participate In Press Convention

Miss Virginia Clise and Miss Roberta Love of the staff of "The Shield," Valley High School's newspaper, will take an active part in the program of the Columbia Scholastic Press Association convention in New York City this week. They are part of a delegation from Valley and other schools of this area, planning to attend the convale.

Valley High Sending Six Delegates To Press Meet

LONAONING—Virginia Clise, editor; Roberta Love and Rita Hartman, page editors; Caroline Hadley, Carole High and James Broadwater, of "The Shield," Valley high school's newspaper staff, will leave tomorrow at 6 p. m. by chartered bus from Frostburg for the Columbia Scholastic Press Association convention in New York City on March 17, 18 and 19.

Miss Peggy Sterbutzel, faculty advisor, will accompany the delegation and stay at the Hotel Taft for the convention weekend.

The group will attend a performance of the Rogers and Hammerstein musical Broadway show, "The Flower Drum Song" on Wednesday evening.

Convention sessions on Thursday, a tour of the New York Times building, television shows; Friday evening will comprise a Radio City performance of the Rockettes, precision dance group, and the famed console organ, as well as a cinema feature.

A dinner at the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel on Saturday, as well as a visit to the United Nations building and the Empire State building, will highlight the day's program.

The Valley delegates will return home on Sunday.

Virginia Clise will introduce Charles W. Hunsicker, speaker on "The Feature Page — How To Make It Attractive" on March 17 at 2:30 p. m. at Columbia University. She will be leading group questions after the talk and will be submitting a full report to the press association at the close of the meeting.

Roberta Love will lead a round-table discussion on writing feature articles March 18. She will be required to prepare an informal 20-minute talk on the writing of feature articles and to lead group discussions for the remaining period of the session.

Both Valley girls were chosen for participation in the C.S.P.A. convention on the basis of a recommendation by their journalism instructor, Miss Sterbutzel. Their letters of acceptance were from Joseph M. Murphy, director of the association.

The Lonaconing school group will be going to New York with the delegations from Frostburg State Teachers College and Beall High School, Frostburg.

State Auditor Still Critical

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—Charleston Memorial Hospital authorities said Monday that State Auditor Edgar B. Sims is still in critical condition following a cerebral stroke at his home March 6.

Sims has been placed in an oxygen tent and a hospital spokesman said there was no change in his condition over the weekend.

CHRYSLER

57 FORD
TUDOR SEDAN
An exceptionally clean, late model Tudor — mechanically as close to perfection as you would find in any 1957 car — The 6-cylinder engine teamed with Ford's very practical Fordomatic transmission gives you power, ease of driving and convenience with the ultimate in economy.
The paint is shining gray in perfect condition — gray and white upholstery and interior make a very pleasing over-all appearance. Of course there is a Heater, also a Radio, Fender Mirrors and other small accessories.
You can own this attractive and dependable car for just

THE CUMBERLAND NEWS, CUMBERLAND, MD., TUESDAY, MARCH 15, 1960

East-West vulnerable. North found that the cupboard was bare.

East decided to double at this point inasmuch as it appeared to him that a club lead was desired. However, we do not concur with East's call, for a diamond lead might prove to be a superior choice and in our opinion West should be given leeway to make his own selection.

South returned to six spades and East, who was by now in the doubling mood, repeated his previous call. If his initial double appears questionable, then the second one may be labeled a major indiscretion.

The opening club lead was taken in the dummy and a heart was led to declarer's king. A low trump to the ten put dummy in to ruff a heart with the ace of spades. Now another spade was led to the jack drawing East's last trump. The ace of hearts was cashed and a diamond discarded. When West showed out of hearts declarer saw that he could not establish that suit, but that by stripping out the hand and then throwing East into the lead at the right moment he could induce a favorable result.

He therefore ruffed a heart in his hand, ruffed a club in dummy and then led the last heart. East was permitted to hold the trick with his queen of hearts as South discarded a diamond. East now had the unhappy choice of either leading away from his king of diamonds or else giving declarer a ruff and discard in clubs.

City Clarifies Position On Library Plan

The Mayor and Council said yesterday that since making a statement concerning the County Library Plan last Monday, additional information has been received and it wanted to clarify its position.

"Members of Council are all of the opinion that proper library service is essential for the citizens of Cumberland. Also we believe that proper library facilities throughout Allegany County would be of great benefit.

"Naturally, council would not approve of any plan which would result in the taxpayers of Cumberland paying at a greater rate for county library services than they are now paying for the Cumberland Free Public Library.

"We are informed that three cents on the county tax rate will produce about $48,000; that also there will be state and federal funds available for a county library which are not available for a city library; that the aggregate of these funds will provide for the operation of a good county library.

"We realize that if the city joins in a county library system it will result in turning over to the county library many thousands of books belonging to our city library and which have been purchased by funds coming from city taxes and from donations by our citizens. But our citizens will still have the right to use these books and all others in the larger county library system.

"Also, we recognize that for many years the Cumberland Library has been housed in rent-free property which belongs to the county.

"If a county library system can be established on a cost basis that will be moderate—as apparently it can—and if the taxpayers of the Cumberland are properly protected and its citizens given better library facilities, then we will join the county system.

"The trustees of our library have advised that this be done. The decision as to whether or not the county will adopt a county library plan is within the discretion of the County Commissioners," the statement said.

No Skating Permitted On Lake

Sanitary Engineer Franklin J. Blaney said yesterday five children had been chased off the frozen surface of Lake Gordon yesterday and warned parents and youngsters alike of the danger involved in such practices.

"If one were to go through the ice we might not find them until spring," he said.

Blaney said he and Ray Nixon of the maintenance staff at the water plant, had chopped a dead deer from the ice last week.

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

You Can't "Fake" Fur Care

This season, how does your fake fur fare? Doesn't it depend on how you take care of it? You should be able to get two seasons of everyday wear out of a good, well-lined synthetic fur—even more when you don't don the coat daily.

If cleaning that fur begins to worry you, I hope you have saved the manufacturer's tag of instructions. Most surface spots and stains should disappear if they are attacked with a damp cloth immediately when they are fresh. And some fake furs, you know, are machine-washable, as long as they are machine-size.

For most synthetics, however, a good dry-cleaning is in order. The static nature of fake fur fibres mean they attract and hold dust, and lint much more than natural fur. So sometime soon, ask your fur cleaner about the various cleaning methods for this trick material. And check his advice with that important tag or manufacturer's recommendations.

You may be able to take advantage of the new and improved low-cost cleaning developed for fake furs. If not, the furrier's cleaning process is well worth the added investment, for it cuts down chances for matting and tufting, two of the synthetic's symptoms of hard wear, or too-casual care.

Remember, you will save money by the fake fur's own virtue of being completely mothproof and virtually mildew-resistant. Your coat can be stored at home in a roomy closet of even temperature, hung from a padded hanger with a dust cover. Shake it out once in a while to revive the pile.

There are some features you cannot reasonably expect of phoney furs, however fabulous. You will have to accept its sensitivity to heat. When your coat is wet, just give it a vigorous shaking and hang it to dry away from direct heat.

If some of the fur fibres have melted and fused, it means the coat was too close to a radiator or heater, or it may have been touched with a cigarette spark. Or perhaps you've tried to press out the creases after alterations, or attempted to raise matted pile with a steam iron. Once matted, fake fur pile doesn't respond.

So, spare your coat these errors... and care for your coat with "real" fur respect... and it will be lovely to wear for another long winter.

12 B&O Cars Are Derailed On Long Grade

Fifth Accident Since Feb. 12

Twelve cars of a freight train descending the 17-mile-grade derailed late yesterday morning and blocked the main lines of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad. Officials hope to have traffic moving again by 2:30 a. m. today.

The derailment occurred at 11:45 a. m. at Frankville, between Swanton and Bloomington as the 12 cars of High Car 96, traveling from Grafton to Cumberland, left the tracks.

Officials said nobody was injured in the derailment which tied up traffic after about 10 of the cars running on No. 2 track fouled No. 1 track. Only two of the cars turned over.

The eastbound train was being pulled by Engine No. 4605. L. F. Durst, Valley Road, was the conductor and R. P. Prickett, Wiley Ford, was the engineer.

Relief trains were dispatched from Cumberland, Keyser and Grafton to clear the tracks. They were making good progress late last night and set 2:30 a. m. as the target for opening the No. 1 track.

Passenger trains were being rerouted last night by way of the Pittsburgh Division.

But railroad officials were planning to allow the Diplomat, due in Keyser at 12:21 a. m. to continue on its regular route, as it was hoped the tracks would be cleared by the time the crack train arrives at the scene of the derailment.

It was the fifth area B&O wreck since February 12.

Health Dept. Vehicles' Use Discussed

The Allegany County Commissioners yesterday met with Clemens W. Gaines, chief of the bureau of management of the State Health Department, to discuss the possibility of the county taking over the operation and maintenance of the County Health Department's motor vehicles.

Commissioner John T. Mason said following the conference that it seemed unlikely that Allegany County will assume the responsibility of maintaining the fleet of Health Department vehicles.

The county had thought, Commissioner Mason stated, that it might be possible to save some money if the vehicles were placed with the county fleet. The upkeep, maintenance and gas and oil would be provided by the county at less expense, it was at first believed, with the state paying the county to maintain the cars.

The discussion with Mr. Gaines, however, disclosed that the state will pay only two-thirds of the actual cost of keeping the cars in operation. The county will have to purchase the cars and maintain them for one-third the cost, Mr. Mason said.

The county commissioners felt the possibility of saving money would be negligible compared to the responsibility involved in maintaining the Health Department's 17 vehicles, Commissioner Mason said.

Baltimore Symphony Gets $25,000 Fund From State

By LOUIS G. PANOS

BALTIMORE (AP) — Money-raisers for the Baltimore Symphony Orchestra struck a responsive chord with the Maryland Board of Public Works Monday.

After hearing spokesmen for the orchestra association recite the trials and tribulations of maintaining the city's cultural standards, the board voted a $25,000 emergency appropriation to help bail the musicians out of a current deficit.

Dr. C. Bernard Brack, association president, and William Boucher III, chairman of its sustaining fund drive, said this still would leave the orchestra $20,000-$25,000 in the red.

"But artistically," said Brack, a surgeon, "the orchestra is better than ever."

The association chairman told the board — composed of Gov. J. Millard Tawes, State Comptroller Louis L. Goldstein and Treasurer Hooper S. Miles — rising costs, especially for salaries, contributed to the financial problem.

He and Boucher added that orchestra programs were generally well attended but ticket sales supported only one-third of the budget.

The rest comes from public contributions and, for the last several years, from state appropriations. The orchestra spokesmen noted that the symphony presents $180,000 worth of concerts outside of Baltimore City.

At the suggestion of Miles, the board also adopted a resolution saying it "looks with disfavor on the Baltimore business community for failing to adequately support the Baltimore Symphony Orchestra." This came after it was noted that the state provided $50,000 in each of the last two years for the orchestra.

In other actions, the board:

1. Approved a proposal to transfer the State's 135th Air Carrier Squadron from Harbor Field to a Martin Co. airfield under a 15-year, three month lease calling for a monthly rental of $4,709.83. Gen. Milton A. Reckord, adjutant general, said the move was necessary because the Maryland Port Authority was taking possession of Harbor Field for its own use.
2. Indicated it will approve renaming the State's new Maximum Security Hospital "The Clifton T. Perkins State Hospital," in honor of the late director of the Department of Mental Hygiene.
3. Received from the Department of Motor Vehicles a report detailing the settlement of a deal approved earlier for the purchase of a new department site for $157,592. The cost includes a $1,500 title - search fee for attorney George Sachse, other incidentals, and $149,999 to the Plantation Realty Co., seller of the property along Ritchie Highway just south of Baltimore.

Earnings Move Up, Westvaco Head Reports

Luke Expansion Is At Halfway Mark

An upturn in February has placed West Virginia Pulp and Paper Company's earnings for the first four months of 1960 almost 10 percent ahead of 1959 levels, David L. Luke, president, reported to Boston Security Analysts there yesterday.

The paper company president said earnings for the first three of the fiscal year, ended February 29, amounted to $3,452,000, or 65 cents a share, as compared with $3,155,000, or 59 cents a share, for the same period a year ago.

Mr. Luke said sales were continuing at a record pace, reaching $77,500,000 for the first four months of this year, as against $72,850,000 for the first four months of 1959.

Earnings only modestly reflect the "very substantial progress" the company has made in the past 10 years in rebuilding its physical plant, revitalizing its markets, extending its research program and strengthening its human organization, Mr. Luke said.

He said earnings have been held down principally by heavy operating costs stemming from an essential $200 million expansion program and by continuing overcapacity in the industry.

He noted that major construction interferes with economical day-to-day operations and that the break-in periods for large installations of papermaking equipment are lengthy and costly.

Mr. Luke pointed out that the company soon would have twice as much productive capacity in three large, modern, low-cost mills at Charleston, S. C., Covington, Va., and Luke as it had in all six of its mills 10 years ago. The Charleston and Covington programs are complete and a $50 million project at the Luke mill is at the midway point, with the first of two new paper machines scheduled to start this year and the second in 1961.

The company's three smaller mills at Mechanismsville, N. Y., Tyrone, Pa., and Williamsburg, Pa., will be operated to absorb surges in demand and to develop new products, Mr. Luke said.

Besides doubling its primary productive capacity the company has a strong position in converting markets, Mr. Luke said. Since

American Cancer Society Lists Slogans For Drive

For the second successive year, "Guard Your Family," will be the rallying note of the Cancer Crusade which opens in Allegany County April 1.

The family theme again will be linked with the life-saving phrase, "Fight Cancer With a Checkup and a Check," it was announced yesterday by Herman L. Myers, county chairman of the 1960 Crusade, who discussed plans for the American Cancer Society's 1960 educational and fund-raising drive.

Mr. Myers said the combined slogan was very effective during last year's drive because it helped awake families of the county to the methods of safeguarding the family against this disease.

The national drive was the most successful in the history of the Cancer Society, according to Mr. Myers. "No ceiling was set on the amount of money needed," he said, "and none is set for the 1960 Cancer Crusade."

"The theme of 'Guard Your Family' is very apt," the county chairman pointed out. "Two of three families in our community will be confronted by the tragedy and the burden of cancer-sooner or later. That's true in every community in the country. It will continue to be true until the disease is conquered—as it will be, given time and money."

"Meanwhile, it's up to you to guard your family, to give them the best possible chance in the event cancer strikes. And better still, to do what you can to prevent cancer," Mr. Myers added.

Mr. Myers said American Cancer Society volunteers will distribute free literature throughout April, Cancer Control Month.

State Employees Begin Plans For Pay Hike

BALTIMORE (AP) — State employees are starting to lay plans already for a new drive in the next Legislature for an across-the-board salary increase.

Executive Director D. Worthington Pearce of the Maryland Classified Employees Assn. said Monday a legislative committee will devise a new program. The committee will be headed by Dr. Edwin Riley of the Caroline County Health Department, Worthington said.

From the legislative committee, recommendations will be handed to the executive committee and then to the state convention of the MCEA in October.

Employees are almost certain to push for at least a 10 per cent hike, the amount they lobbied for in the 1960 Legislature last month.

Instead of granting an increase to all employees, totaling some 5 million dollars, the General Assembly authorized pay hikes to career employees. It cost about half what the MCEA plan proposed.

Russell Smith Is Re-Elected Oakland Mayor

Naylor, Adams, Harned To Council

Russell L. Smith was re-elected mayor of Oakland yesterday for a two-year term. He defeated Henry W. McComas, a former councilman, who sought to unseat Mayor Smith.

Elected to council yesterday were William E. Naylor, Harold H. Harned and Emory W. Adams Sr., the only incumbent seeking re-election.

Defeated for council were Donald M. Browning and Wilbur W. Close. Mrs. Beryldine Stanton, unopposed, was re-elected town treasurer.

Councilmen who have another year to serve and are holdovers include Dr. E. I. Baumgartner, Howard J. White and Dr. H. R. Gibson.

John Wolf an incumbent councilman was not a candidate for re-election and since Mr. McComas served two years as councilman and then sought the mayor's seat, the new council includes two new faces, Mr. Naylor and Mr. Harned. Adams, who was re-elected, had been appointed to council to fill a vacancy, when Robert M. Maroney resigned to become a trial magistrate.

The total vote cast was recorded as 390 of the town's registered vote of 652. There was some snowfall during the day, and officials said snow and ice kept voting at a low percentage.

Mrs. Geraldine Glatfelter substituted as an election judge for Mrs. Joseph M. Gonder, who is ill. Mrs. A. G. Hesen served as the other judge, while Mrs. Francis R. Shaffer and Miss Floss Shaffer served as voting machine judges.

The office of Allegany County Tax Collector William B. Orndorff yesterday sold 791 sets of license tags to bring the total sales to date to 8,107 sets.

Mr. Orndorff said that his office still has 13,156 sets remaining from the total shipment of 21,263 sets received at the Court House.

The tax collector also requested that the person who purchased tags GA 7919 please get in touch with his office as the application form for the purchase is missing. The application form is necessary for the tax collector to complete his records and reports.

When license tags are bought, the application form is signed and the registration card is returned to the buyer with the tags. The remaining sections of the application are kept by the tax office.

Mr. Orndorff explained yesterday that the purchaser of license tags GA 7919 apparently had the entire form returned to him or picked it up by mistake.

Scout Roundtable Is Set Tonight

Nemacolin Trail District, Potomac Council Boy Scouts, will hold a roundtable discussion today at 7:15 p. m. at the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company.

Walter J. Maxey and Herbert D. Lehr, roundtable commission-ers, said ideas for April and May themes will be presented at the meeting tonight.

Unit leaders, assistants, committeemen, cubmasters and den mothers will discuss ideas at the planning session.

Fund Drive For New TV Channel Set

Frostburg Women To Make Survey

The Frostburg Community Television Association is planning a campaign for funds to permit the organization to put another UHF channel on the air and to obtain a supply of spare parts for the operation of the TV station.

Mayor Joseph James said additional funds are needed to help keep the channels "trouble-free" and to give the Frostburg area its fourth UHF-TV channel.

A committee of women has been selected to make a survey of all users of television in the Frostburg area and to help solicit funds for the operation of the UHF-TV station.

Members of the committee are Mrs. Mary Nickel, Mrs. Erma Martin, Mrs. Susan Kamauf, Mrs. Florence Tenney, Mrs. Gwen Eisel, Mrs. Marie Lewis and Miss Jackie Johnson.

The women will begin their survey today. Their campaign is being authorized by the Frostburg Community Television Association.

Mayor James said the citizens are being asked to contribute to the fund to help provide the fourth channel and to keep a supply of necessary spare parts on hand for maintenance of the TV station.

He noted that a small group of men have been donating their spare time and efforts in maintaining the television service now provided the Frostburg area. He said the old antenna recently was blown by high winds, damaging a coaxial cable.

The television station's equipment is insured and the cable, now partially repaired, will be put back in perfect operation as soon as the insurance monies are available, the mayor stated.

If the present fund drive is successful, the television association hopes to provide a color channel for its fifth channel soon.

Approved: Bedford Street from Henderson Avenue to the end of the brick; Franklin Street from Centre Street to Sylvan Avenue; Independence Street; from Bedford to Walnut Street; Oldtown Road from Maryland Avenue to Grand Avenue; Kelly Boulevard from the end of the concrete to Springfield Boulevard; Valley Street from Fairview Avenue to Furnace Street; Washington Street from Cumberland Street to Prospect Square; Frederick Street from Henderson Avenue to Decatur Street; and Williams Street from Park Street to Maryland Avenue.

Tabled for one week: Fayette Street from Cumberland Street to Braddock Road; and Wempe Drive from Oldtown Road, 275 feet, beyond Elwood Street.

Opposition of some sort was voiced in all with the exception of Bedford Street from Henderson Avenue to the end of the brick and Oldtown Road and Williams Street.

The Washington Street ordinance was approved despite the opposition of all three churches on that stretch as well as all of the other property owners. Churches opposed to resurfacing of the Washington Street hill were Emmanuel Episcopal, First Presbyterian and First Church of Christ, Scientist.

Will Ask Bids

Council authorized the advertising of bids for streets approved.

As a result of opposition to the Fayette Street and Wempe Drive ordinances, council, by agreement among its members, tabled the resurfacing action for a week. It was accomplished three to two, Commissioners Philmore Fleming and G. Ray Light, agreeing to vote "no" and automatically delaying it until next Monday's meeting.

Meanwhile, Commissioner John J. Long asked the opposition group that if it got outside engineering advice, that City Engineer Charles R. Nuzum be notified.

Two Surfacing Ordinances Are Tabled By City

Plans To Restore 9 Streets Approved

The Mayor and Council yesterday adopted ordinances providing for the resurfacing of nine city streets. Legislation for improving two other streets was tabled for a week after opposition developed.

The boxscore looked like this as the meeting ended at 1:07 p. m.:

Approved: Bedford Street from Henderson Avenue to the end of the brick; Franklin Street from Centre Street to Sylvan Avenue; Independence Street; from Bedford to Walnut Street; Oldtown Road from Maryland Avenue to Grand Avenue; Kelly Boulevard from the end of the concrete to Springfield Boulevard; Valley Street from Fairview Avenue to Furnace Street; Washington Street from Cumberland Street to Prospect Square; Frederick Street from Henderson Avenue to Decatur Street; and Williams Street from Park Street to Maryland Avenue.

American Cancer Society Lists Slogans For Drive

For the second successive year, "Guard Your Family," will be the rallying note of the Cancer Crusade which opens in Allegany County April 1.

Mr. Myers said the combined slogan was very effective during last year's drive because it helped awake families of the county to the methods of safeguarding the family against this disease.

The national drive was the most successful in the history of the Cancer Society, according to Mr. Myers. "No ceiling was set on the amount of money needed," he said, "and none is set for the 1960 Cancer Crusade."

"The theme of 'Guard Your Family' is very apt," the county chairman pointed out. "Two of three families in our community will be confronted by the tragedy and the burden of cancer sooner or later. That's true in every community in the country. It will continue to be true until the disease is conquered—as it will be, given time and money."

"Meanwhile, it's up to you to guard your family, to give them the best possible chance in the event cancer strikes. And better still, to do what you can to prevent cancer," Mr. Myers added.

Mr. Myers said American Cancer Society volunteers will distribute free literature throughout April, Cancer Control Month.

State Employees Begin Plans For Pay Hike

BALTIMORE (AP) — State employees are starting to lay plans already for a new drive in the next Legislature for an across-the-board salary increase.

Executive Director D. Worthington Pearre of the Maryland Classified Employees Assn. said Monday a legislative committee will devise a new program. The committee will be headed by Dr. Edwin Riley of the Caroline County Health Department, Worthington said.

From the legislative committee, recommendations will be handed to the executive committee and then to the state convention of the MCEA in October.

Employees are almost certain to push for at least a 10 per cent hike, the amount they lobbied for in the 1960 Legislature last month. Instead of granting an increase to all employees, totaling some 5 million dollars, the General Assembly authorized pay hikes to career employees. It cost about half what the MCEA plan proposed.

Russell Smith Is Re-Elected Oakland Mayor

Naylor, Adams, Harned To Council

Russell L. Smith was re-elected mayor of Oakland yesterday for a two-year term. He defeated Henry W. McComas, a former councilman, who sought to unseat Mayor Smith.

Elected to council yesterday are William E. Naylor, Harold H. Harned and Emory W. Adams Sr., the only incumbent seeking re-election.

Defeated for council were Donald M. Browning and Wilbur W. Close. Mrs. Berylde Stanton, unopposed, was re-elected town treasurer.

Councilmen who have another year to serve and are holdovers include Dr. E. I. Baumgartner, Howard J. White and Dr. H. R. Gibson.

Henry W. McComas . . . 151

For Council
William E. Naylor . . . 285
Emory Adams Sr. (inc.) . . . 226
Harold H. Harned . . . 220
Donald M. Browning . . . 204
Wilbur W. Close . . . 73

John Wolf, an incumbent councilman was not a candidate for re-election and since Mr. McComas served two years as councilman and then sought the mayor's seat, the new council includes two new faces, Mr. Naylor and Mr. Harned. Adams, who was re-elected, had been appointed to council to fill a vacancy, when Robert M. Maroney resigned to become a trial magistrate.

The total vote cast was recorded as 390 of the town's registered vote of 652. There was some snowfall during the day, and officials said snow and ice kept voting at a low percentage.

Mrs. Geraldine Giotfletty substituted as an election judge for Mrs. Joseph M. Gonder, who is ill. Mrs. A. G. Hesen served as the other judge, while Mrs. Francis R. Shaffer and Miss Floss Shaffer served as voting machine judges.

8,107 Sets Of License Tags Sold

The office of Allegany County Tax Collector William B. Orndorff yesterday sold 791 sets of license tags to bring the total sales to date to 8,107 sets.

Mr. Orndorff said that his office still has 13,156 sets remaining from the total shipment of 21,263 sets received at the Court House.

The tax collector also requested that the person who purchased tags GA 7919 please get in touch with his office as the application form for the purchase is missing.

The application form is necessary for the tax collector to complete his records and reports. When license tags are bought, the application form is signed and the registration card is returned to the buyer with the tags. The remaining sections of the application are kept by the tax office.

Mr. Orndorff explained yesterday that the purchaser of license tags GA 7919 apparently had the entire form returned to him or picked it up by mistake.

Scout Roundtable Is Set Tonight

Nemacolin Trail District, Potomac Council Boy Scouts, will hold a roundtable discussion today at 7:15 p. m. at the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company.

Walter J. Maxey and Herbert D. Lehr, roundtable commissioners, said ideas for April and May themes will be presented at the meeting tonight.

Unit leaders, assistants, committeemen, cubmasters and den mothers will discuss ideas at the planning session.

Fund Drive For New TV Channel Set

Frostburg Women To Make Survey

The Frostburg Community Television Association is planning a campaign for funds to permit the organization to put another UHF channel on the air and to obtain a supply of spare parts for the operation of the TV station.

Mayor Joseph James said additional funds are needed to help keep the channels "trouble-free" and to give the Frostburg area its fourth UHF-TV channel.

A committee of women has been selected to make a survey of all users of television in the Frostburg area and to help solicit funds for the operation of the UHF-TV station.

Members of the committee are Mrs. Mary Nickel, Mrs. Erma Martin, Mrs. Susan Kamauf, Mrs. Florence Tenney, Mrs. Gwen Eisel, Mrs. Marie Lewis and Miss Jackie Johnson.

The women will begin their survey today. Their campaign is being authorized by the Frostburg Community Television Association.

Mayor James said the citizens are being asked to contribute to the fund to help provide the fourth channel and to keep a supply of necessary spare parts on hand for maintenance of the TV station.

He noted that a small group of men have been donating their spare time and efforts in maintaining the television service now provided the Frostburg area. He said the old antenna recently was blown by high winds, damaging a coaxial cable.

The television station's equipment is insured and the cable, now partially repaired, will be put back in perfect operation as soon as the insurance monies are available, the mayor stated.

If the present fund drive is successful, the television association hopes to provide a color channel for its fifth channel soon.

Tawes Orders Detailed Study Of College Plan

BALTIMORE (AP)—Gov. Tawes said Monday he had ordered a detailed study of a proposal to transform three state teachers colleges into branches of the University of Maryland.

He said Edmund C. Mester, one of his executive assistants, and Dr. Albin O. Kuhn, executive vice president of the university, would begin the study.

The proposal was contained in a report by a governor's commission set up to recommend means of coping with an expected doubling of the university's enrollment by 1970. The commission, headed by Edwin Warfield III of Howard County, submitted its report to the governor last month.

It proposed that the university absorb and expand teachers colleges at Frostburg, Towson and Salisbury.

These would be broadened to include all but the most technical subjects, such as engineering and similar courses, and would later be supplemented by the construction of three more university branches to serve the Frederick-Washington County, Southern Maryland and upper Eastern Shore areas.

Mester said he and Kuhn would visit Frostburg Friday to help set up the detailed study. This would include a survey of the physical plant and estimated costs of converting the college into a university branch.

Benefit Supper

A ham and fish supper will be held tomorrow from 5 to 8 p. m. at the Legion home in Ridgeley for the benefit of the Ridgeley Teen Club and the Ridgeley Little League. The affair is sponsored by Knobley Mountain Post American Legion. Tickets may be obtained from Jack Cornett, chairman or any member of the Legion.

Two Surfacing Ordinances Are Tabled By City

Plans To Restore 9 Streets Approved

The Mayor and Council yesterday accepted ordinances providing for the resurfacing of nine city streets. Legislation for improving two other streets was tabled for a week after opposition developed.

The boxscore looked like this as the meeting ended at 1:07 p. m.:

Approved: Bedford Street from Henderson Avenue to the end of the brick; Franklin Street from Centre Street to Sylvan Avenue; Independence Street; from Bedford to Walnut Street; Oldtown Road from Maryland Avenue to Grand Avenue; Kelly Boulevard from the end of the concrete to Springfield Boulevard; Valley Street from Fairview Avenue to Furnace Street; Washington Street from Cumberland Street to Prospect Square; Frederick Street from Henderson Avenue to Decatur Street; and Williams Street from Park Street to Maryland Avenue.

Tabled for one week: Fayette Street from Cumberland Street to Braddock Road; and Wempe Drive from Oldtown Road, 275 feet, beyond Elwood Street.

Opposition of some sort was voiced in all with the exception of Bedford Street from Henderson Avenue to the end of the brick and Oldtown Road and Williams Street.

The Washington Street ordinance was approved despite the opposition of all three churches on that stretch as well as all of the other property owners. Churches opposed to resurfacing of the Washington Street hill were Emmanuel Episcopal, First Presbyterian and First Church of Christ, Scientist.

Will Ask Bids

Council authorized the advertising of bids for streets approved.

As a result of opposition to the Fayette Street and Wempe Drive ordinances, council by agreement among its members, tabled the resurfacing action for a week. It was accomplished three to two, Commissioners Philmore Fleming and G. Ray Light, agreeing to vote "no" and automatically delaying it until next Monday's meeting.

Meanwhile, Commissioner John J. Long asked the opposition group that if it got outside engineering advice, that City Engineer Charles R. Nuzum be notified. (Continued on Page 6)

Sandbagging Program To Be Discussed

Plans for sandbagging several vulnerable spots in the Cumberland-Ridgeley flood protection system in case of major floods will be discussed at a meeting Thursday at 7:30 p. m. in City Hall.

Attending will be the Mayor and Council of Cumberland, the Mayor and Town Council of Ridgeley and officials of the Western Maryland Railway.

The purpose of the conference, city officials said, is to reach an understanding on the responsibility of the parties for such protective work and the assumption of costs.

Bids Under Study

The Mayor and Council yesterday opened, and referred to appropriate city officials for study and report, bids on 12,000 sandbags.

City officials said about 3,000 of the bags might be needed here and the other 9,000 in Ridgeley. The city spokesman said it is not the city's responsibility to buy or store the supplies needed in Ridgeley, where two spots would have to be protected by sandbagging in a deluge greater than the St. Patrick's Day Flood of 1936.

Details of Ridgeley's flood emergency warning program will be outlined at a meeting of the Mayor and Council and the town's flood control committee today at 7:30 p. m. at Fireman's Hall there.

Mayor Charles H. Fryer said the meeting will be open to persons interested in assisting the town in times of flood emergency. City officials met last week with representatives of various civic and fraternal organizations at which time the clubs were asked to recruit volunteers for flood emergency work.

Committee Named

Olin B. Logsdon, chairman of the flood control committee, has appointed a committee to conduct a survey on the number of vehicles available for use in times of emergency. Trucks in particular will be needed to haul sandbags, Logsdon pointed out.

Logsdon explained that Ridgeley will be responsible for building a dam of sandbags to protect the Western Maryland Railway yards in Ridgeley, and also for placing sandbags where the railway's tracks enter Ridgeley. The tracks, he said, are on a grade considerably lower than the top of the flood protection walls.

Ridgeley officials conferred yesterday with the Cumberland Mayor and Council regarding the purchase of sandbags for use in flood threats.

Elementary Teachers Examine Books

This picture shows a number of elementary teachers from Allegany County public schools examining books in the exhibit which will be on display all this week at the Board of Education office. The three supervisors of elementary education have arranged a library workshop which will continue all this week. Miss Mae Graham, supervisor of school and children's libraries for the State Division of Library Extension, will be here today, tomorrow and Thursday.
